Kellogg Anti-War Treaty Comes Up On Floor Of Senate

EXPECTED TO BE APPROVED BY BIG VOTE

Resolution of Irreconcilable Group Also Given To Senate For Action
EXPLANATION IS ASKED

Senators Refuse to Admit How They Will Vote On Three Conditions Named

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(INS)—The Kellogg multilateral anti-war treaty came before the senate formally today along with the resolution of the irreconcilable group, proposing a public explanation of the American terms of adherence.

The irreconcilables proposed three conditions explaining American ratification, were:

1—That the treaty does not impair or abridge the right of the United States to defend its territory or other vital interests in accordance with the traditional American policies.

2—That the treaty imposes no obligation on the United States to resort to coercive or punitive measures against any offending nation.

3—That the treaty does not obligate the United States to the conditions of any treaty to which the United States is not a party.

The treaty came to the senate with a 7 to 1 majority of the foreign relations committee supporting it. The vote of approval was 14 to 2, with two senators not voting. The opponents were Sen. James A. Reed (D) of Missouri, and Thomas F. Bayard (D) of Delaware. Senators Moses (R) of N. H., and McLean (R) of Conn., failed to vote. All other members of the committee, including Senator Shipstead (F-L) of Minn., approved it.

The irreconcilables, however, did not lose hope, even though the committee vote probably represents the sentiment of the senate. A confidential poll by International News Service has revealed an overwhelming sentiment in the senate in favor of the treaty—possibly as great as a 20 to 1 vote—but senators were reluctant to say how they would vote upon the resolution of explanation. There was just a bare possibility that the resolution, in some modified form, might be adopted, even in the face of presidential disapproval.

RESIGNATION OF MELLON DEMANDED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(UP)—A demand that Secretary of the Treasury Mellon resign because he furnishes congress with "misleading and dishonest estimates" was made in the house today by Rep. Garner, Dem., Tex.

Garner asked why the president in his first message to congress estimated a $37,000,000 deficit for 1929 after the budget bureau earlier had predicted a $94,000,000 deficit, and then sent a supplemental $75,000,000 estimate for tax refunds warning this would probably cause a $50,000,000 deficit.

BOULDER BILL TO PRESIDENT THIS EVENING

Advocates of Dam Believe President Will Approve Measure As Passed

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Advocates of Boulder Dam were confident today that President Coolidge will sign the measure once it goes through the formal channels of procedure after reaching the White House.

The bill is expected to reach Mr. Coolidge's desk this evening. It will be referred to the interior department and budget bureau for final approval or possible recommendations.

While the president has given no definite assurance of signing the bill, congressional callers at the White House have felt the bill will have the executive's approval.

The house agreed to the senate amendments yesterday thus completing the lengthy passage of the bill through congress.

Sponsors of the measure were confident that Mr. Coolidge would sign the bill. The president, as well as President-elect Hoover, had urged the building of the dam, although the former in his last message opposed any action to make it a straight government-operation project.

The possible objections of the president, backers believed, had been met by giving the interior department optional authority in the building of the dam and power plant and disposing of hydro-electric power.

Meantime, opponents contended that if the bill becomes a law a court battle will ensue which definitely will postpone action. Under the measure, Arizona is given six months in which to ratify a compact with New Mexico, California, Nevada, Colorado, Utah and Wyoming before the project can be carried out without her assent.

L. A. COURT ASKED TO FREE NORTHCOTT

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—(UP)—A writ of habeas corpus demanding the release from county jail of Gordon Stewart Northcott, accused slayer of four Southern California youths, will be returned late today before Superior Judge Woods. Attorneys for Northcott contend they have been refused permission to confer privately with the defendant and therefore have been unable to form a defense for him. The writ claims violation of Northcott's constitutional rights.

SUBMARINE RAISED BY NEW PONTOONS

BLOCK ISLAND, R. I., Dec. 19.—(UP)—The resunken submarine S-4 was raised by navy salvages today as the climax of tests designed to prove the strength of "pad eyes," new pontoon chain devices for raising submarines.

The nose of the S-4 was brought to the surface last night but the tail stuck in the mud, 55 feet down, and was not raised until 9:45 a. m. today.

Duke Offered Fast Train In Dash To Bedside Of Father

LISBON, Portugal, Dec. 19.—(UP)—An express train to expedite the journey of the Duke of Gloucester from South Africa to London will be placed at the duke's disposal if he wishes, it was announced today.

STORK DELIVERS FOURTH SET OF TWINS AS XMAS PRESENT

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(INS)—May your joys—or troubles—come double!

Four pairs of twins in seven years was the record proudly pointed to by Grover C. Robey, of Anacostia, today. The last pair arrived yesterday and mother and children are doing well.

Robey had already provided several hundred dollars worth of Christmas for 12 children, and Santa today finds his job was not complete.

The Robeys were married in 1906 and for the first few years the babies arrived singly. In a thoughtless moment eight years ago, Robey ordered twins, the stork delivered,

INTERVENTION POLICY OF U.S. HAS CEASED TO EXIST, HOOVER TELLS ARGENTINA PRESIDENT

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 19.—(UP)—The intervention policy of the U. S. has ceased to exist and in the future the American government will not intervene in the internal affairs of other countries with respect to the sovereignty and right to manage their own destinies, President-elect Herbert Hoover told President Hipolito Irigoyen of Argentina during their recent conversations here, the official newspaper El Epoca said today.

El Epoca today printed two columns of what is purported to be a report of the conversations between Mr. Hoover and President Irigoyen.

The report read in part: "President Irigoyen opened the discussion by declaring that the Argentine government, the same as all South American governments, was observing an international policy, whose partial consequences consisted in not recognizing the sovereignty of those countries in which the interests of U. S. citizens, according to their opinion, were not sufficiently respected or protected by the local laws and authorities."

"The president pointed out the gravity of an international thesis which made so dangerous the incorporation of American private capital in the internal policy of other nations and also the questions aroused throughout the continent of whether the theories and practices, announced and applied by the government of the U. S., in connection with certain countries, represented principles definitely incorporated within the diplomatic ideas and connections of its diplomatic relations."

"Mr. Hoover explained that the North American interventions in certain countries were not carried out to protect economic interests."

NAVAL ORANGE PICKING WILL START IN WEEK

FULLERTON, Dec. 19.—Naval picking in this district will start next week, it was announced today by Dale R. King, manager of the Northern Orange County Citrus exchange, following the taking of tests this week of the sugar content of the oranges.

Approximately one-third of the tests that have been taken have reached the necessary ratio of 8 to 1, King declared. The highest was reached today on a test of oranges from the A. S. Bradford ranch of Placentia which revealed an 8-1-3 ratio. By next week practically all of the navel in the district will have reached the stage where they can be picked and shipped to eastern markets.

The exchange is expecting a heavy navel crop of about 350 cars, almost twice that of last year and 15 per cent higher than the crop of

QUAKE RECORDED AT DENVER COLLEGE

DENVER, Dec. 19.—(INS)—An earthquake of estimated second degree intensity was recorded on the seismograph at Regis college here early this morning, according to Father W. A. Forestall. The first shock occurred at 6:23 a. m., the wave of maximum intensity at 6:42, and the tremor ended at 6:45.

Father Forestall declared he was unable to determine definitely the direction of the quake, but said it was at an approximate distance of 3000 miles from Denver, most likely outside the American continent.

REORGANIZATION OF COUNTY DISTRICTS IS C. OF C. TOPIC

Reorganization of the supervisory districts of Orange county was suggested at a meeting, this morning, of the directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce. The suggestion was made on the basis of fairness to this city.

It was pointed out that Santa Ana, with its large population, has only one representative on the board of supervisors, where it would be entitled to two on the basis of population. It was asserted that Santa Ana is virtually the only city in the state where two or more supervisory districts are not

Pan-American Congress In Meeting Today Urges Peace Negotiations

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(UP)—The Pan-American conference through a special committee today asked Bolivia and Paraguay to reach a pacific settlement of their differences.

Meeting with Bolivian Minister Diaz De Medina and the Paraguayan delegate Ayala, the special committee on mediation between the two countries formally expressed "the hope that their differences will be settled in a peaceful and satisfactory manner."

After a two hour session, Dr. Maurtua of Peru, chairman of the special committee, announced it will continue to gather certain information on the conflict before reporting to the plenary session of the conference.

"We have a well founded belief that the situation will be settled satisfactorily," Maurtua said.

UP TO CONFERENCE

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 19.—(INS)—The next move in the Bolivian-Paraguayan territorial conflict is up to the Pan-American conference on conciliation and arbitration in Washington.

There are high hopes here today that there will be no further clashes and that the two republics will move all troops from their frontier except the normal border guards.

It is admitted that a settlement will be long and difficult owing to the firmness of both the Lapaz and Asuncion governments in their territorial claims.

COUNTER CHARGES

LA PAZ, Bolivia, Dec. 19.—(INS)—Responsibility for the clashes between Bolivian and Paraguayan troops in Gran Chaco will be laid to Paraguay by the Bolivian government when mediation negotiations get under way, it was indicated in official circles today.

Thomas Manuel Elío, Bolivian foreign minister, in his communication to Secretary of State Kellogg, accepting, on behalf of Bolivia, the Pan-American conference offer of mediation, asserted that "Paraguay was guilty of aggressions" and denied the Bolivian army had been mobilized.

TWO ESCAPE WHILE 300 CONVICTS SING

TACOMA, Wn., Dec. 19.—(UP)—While 300 prisoners sang at early morning church services in the dining room of McNeil Island prison, two convicts today made their escape through a vestibule window.

The escaped prisoners are Jesse Watkins, 25, serving a life term for a murder in San Francisco, and Alvin Hodges, 21, who was serving a term of a year and a day for theft of an auto in Arizona. He would have been released March 1, 1929.

KING'S CONDITION IS BETTER TODAY

LONDON, Dec. 19.—A favorable bulletin on the condition of King George was issued by the royal physicians at 11:00 a. m. today.

The bulletin stated that the king had had a restful night and that his condition continued slightly improved.

The text of the bulletin was as follows: "The king has had a restful night. The slight improvement noted yesterday continues."

Child Lights Gasoline And Clothes Fire

Playmate Also Injured and Is In Serious Condition In Hospital

CHILDISH desire to see if gasoline would ignite resulted in fatal burns for Julia Gongaes, 7, and second degree burns for Savilla Ruiz, 7, both of Atwood, late yesterday.

The little girls were watching a group of neighborhood boys, who were endeavoring to start a car. One of the lads suggested that they test the gasoline. The fluid was drained into a can and a match touched.

In the excitement that ensued, one of the boys kicked the can over and the burning gasoline was spilled on the Gongaes and Ruiz girls.

Luis Gongaes, father of the dead girl, received minor burns in extinguishing the flames.

The girls were rushed to the county hospital. The Gongaes girl passed away late last night. The Ruiz child has a good chance for recovery, it was stated today.

The body of Julia Gongaes was taken to the McAulay and Suters parlors in Fullerton.

Coroner Charles Brown is expected to hold an inquest late today or tomorrow.

RIVERSIDE MAYOR'S RECALL DEMANDED

RIVERSIDE, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Civic strife, arising from the alleged assertion of Mayor Dighton that City Auditor Pierson mismanaged funds of the city, today was said to have taken the form of recall petitions proposing Joseph S. Long as successor to the mayor.

Recall petitions directed against Councilmen Taylor, Beckstrand and Wells were also said to be circulating.

Special accountants were understood to be auditing Pierson's accounts under orders from Mayor Dighton. Pierson, though suspended by the mayor, remained at his desk today.

The mayor is under two grand jury indictments charging him with criminal libel against Auditor Pierson.

SENATOR OPPOSES WEST NOMINATION

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Senator Norris, leader of recent campaigns against the hydroelectric power groups, forwarded a letter to Chairman Nye of the senate public lands committee today protesting against the nomination of Roy O. West as secretary of interior.

Norris charged that Samuel Insull, Illinois public utilities magnate, with whom West was associated as attorney, has 10 applications for $300,000,000 worth of power sites before the interior department.

Youth Jailed On Check Charge Says Father Is Wealthy

BERKELEY, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Victor Tabor, 18, claiming to be the son of Rafael Tabor, millionaire Bolivian senator of La Paz, and candidate for president of that country, today faced charges of issuing fictitious checks.

Police said he confessed passing three bad checks, after he was arrested on complaint of a clothing store proprietor. Tabor excused his act, it was said, on the ground that he did not realize he was short of funds.

Police Find Huge Still In Washington

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—(INS)—While the congress wrangled over whether to spend $13,000,000 or $270,000,000 to enforce prohibition next year, police discovered one of the largest stills ever found in the capital within a stone's throw of local prohibition headquarters.

It had a capacity of 1500 gallons of whiskey daily, and filled the entire second floor of a large building.

There were 27 vats, each capable of holding 1000 gallons of mash. Most of them were filled. Thirty gallons of whiskey, 2000 pounds of sugar, 500 pounds of corn meal and other equipment were among the seizures.

FOUR MILLION IN TAXES ARE PAID COUNTY

Final Settlement of Largest Single Collection Made to Auditor

THE FINAL settlement on Orange county's largest single tax collection in history was made today by County Tax Collector J. C. Lamb when he turned over to County Auditor W. C. Jerome the last payments received in the mountain of mail which flooded his office on the final day before the fees became delinquent.

According to Lamb, 25,000 letters were received on the last three days and today the last one was checked. Lamb was charged with collecting $5,910,803.34 and the collection for the first payments of the year amounted to 65 per cent of this figure, he said. This included personal property taxes brought in through the office of County Assessor James Sleeper.

The final settlement with Jerome today marks the end of the largest collection ever made in the county's history and the amount turned over will run between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000.

Lamb saw evidence of considerable activity in real estate in this year's tax returns. Many transfers of property had been made since last year, he said, pointing out that many of the transactions were trades.

The flood of letters on the last three days was larger this year than ever before, Lamb said, and made the final checking up of the collections one of the biggest jobs ever handled by his office. Delinquencies will not be greater this year than before, he stated, although many people avoided delinquency just at the last minute. Settlements have been made at various times as the money came in, he said, and the one made today represents only the last of the payments made through the mail.

SON OF NOTED SONG WRITER IS SUICIDE

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—(UP)—The body of Fred Jacobs Smith, son of Carrie Jacobs Bond, noted composer, was returned here today from Lake Arrowhead, where he committed suicide sometime Monday by shooting himself through the head.

Near the bed where Smith was found last night was a run down phonograph. The last record it played was "A Perfect Day," better known as "The End of a Perfect Day," one of his mother's most famous compositions.

A coroner's jury, assembled in his mountain resort cabin, found that he met death at his own hands. Relatives said he suffered ill health for more than a year. Funeral arrangements were not completed today.

130 PERCENT INCREASE IN NINE YEARS

Survey Made By Register Bears Out Optimistic Predictions For Year

MEN OUTNUMBERED

Increase In Births Over Deaths Recorded; School Population Also Jumps

GIVING SANTA ANA a place among the fastest growing cities in the country, a survey completed today by The Register revealed the fact that during the last nine years this community has increased in population by 130 per cent. There are 35,415 people residing in Santa Ana today, The Register census showed, bearing out the most optimistic of the estimates and predictions made in recent years.

As a further indication of fast growth and solid development that has been going on and still is continuing, it was found that the population of the city and the adjacent urban territory is 63,900, giving to the business and industry of Santa Ana a market almost double that in the city itself.

In 1920, when the last decennial census was taken, the population of Santa Ana was 15,435, and since that time 19,930 people have come here to make this city their home. Over 100 per cent more residents have settled here during the last nine years than had come here to live during all the city's history previous to 1920, the survey showed.

The Register survey was based on statistics from local sources giving the city's gains since the 1920 census in the factors essential to population growth. Births, registration for voting, school attendance, water meters and annexed territory were considered.

Occupational estimates for the city's population revealed that there are 30,019 persons 10 years of age or over residing in the city and that 16,744 of this number are workers. Men account for 13,181 and women for 3583 of the city's workers.

These figures are in striking contrast to those for 1920, which showed that there were at that time 7280 persons in Santa Ana working for gain. Of this number 5721 were men and 1559 were women.

In the city there are 1445 more women than men, according to the estimate of population. The total number of women was found to be 18,430 and the entire male population was found to be 16,935.

In 1920 there were 8100 women and 4355 men, according to the census at that time.

PROMINENT TUSTIN RESIDENT MISSING

Santa Ana police officers today were asked to aid in a search being made for Glenn B. Teter, well known Tustin business man, who has been mysteriously missing since December 15. All garages in the city today were checked for a trace of Teter's automobile, but officers failed to find the machine, it was said.

Grand Jury Expected To File Report Late This Week

BODY BELIEVED STUDYING NEED OF MORE ROOM

The Orange county grand jury will complete its annual investigation of county affairs and file its report late this week or early in the following week, it was rumored persistently here today.

The belief that the inquisitorial body is approaching the end of its long task and is assembling its findings was given added strength today and also added interest by the fact that Byron V. Curry, foreman of the grand jury, was seen late yesterday conferring with the board of supervisors.

Curry spent some time with the county officials before he emerged. It was believed that his conference might have been of an important and perhaps unusual nature owing to the fact that the grand jury was reported recently to have been considering the advisability of recommending expansion of the court house and hall of records in order to care for the increasing amount of business handled by county officials in space that rapidly is becoming congested.

Inasmuch as such a recommendation would be a matter for consideration by the board of supervisors, the rumor that the grand jury is considering still the possibility of such a suggestion gained additional circulation today. Some time ago each county department head is rumored to have provided the jury with facts and figures showing the floor space occupied and the amount that should be available to provide for continued efficient work.

Some time ago Col. S. H. Finley, supervisor from the first district suggested to the board the advisability of considering the question of making additions to the courthouse. He suggested the erection of a unit between the courthouse and hall of records at an estimated cost of $250,000.

With the exception of one or two committees on the grand jury, it is believed that most of the divisions of its work practically are finished today. It is expected that these committees, which are said to have been handicapped by the recent "flu" epidemic more than some of the others, will complete their investigations and reports within a few days.

POPULATION OF SANTA ANA IS OVER 35,000

how to supply facilities needed for additional school pupils, the survey completed today, revealed that there is a huge increase in the school population to be served. For the number of youth of school age in the city today is 109 per cent larger than it was in 1920. The Register survey showed that there are 23,692 residents over the age of 21, leaving approximately 11,723 persons under the voting age. Men over the age of 21 number 11,178 and women over this age 12,514.

Over the age of 10 years there are 30,019 persons in Santa Ana. Of this total, there are 14,347 men and 15,672 women. In 1920 there were 10,301 persons over the age of 21, and the census showed that 4860 of this number were men and 5441 women. In the same year there were 13,056 persons over the age of 10, of which number 6238 were men and 6818 were women.

Today there are 9764 families in the community as contrasted with 4245 families in 1920.

The survey showed that during the last nine years there has been an excess of births over deaths amounting to 2440. There has been an increase of 103 per cent in the number of qualified voters and an increase of 104 per cent in the number of active domestic water meters.

Annexation of territory since the 1920 census has resulted in a population increase of 11.2 per cent.

These figures bear out estimates of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce showing a population of 35,000 in Santa Ana at the end of 1928 and a population of 68,000 for the city and adjacent urban territory.

HERE IS BOULDER CANYON DAM BILL IN A NUTSHELL

The Boulder Canyon Bill stripped of necessary legal phrases is as follows:

Sec. 1.—Purpose of the bill—To improve navigation, control floods, regulating flow of the Colorado, to provide for storage, for irrigation, generating electrical energy as a means of paying the cost of the dam, secretary of the interior to construct the dam to contain not less than 20,000 acre feet and an All-American canal to Imperial and Cochella valleys, cost of canal not to be a charge on power at the dam. Secretary of the interior to construct, equip, operate and maintain a complete power plant or cause those things to be done. Sec. 2.—(a)—Colorado River dam fund established. (b)—Secretary of treasury to advance to the fund an aggregate of $165,000,000, of which $25,000,000 to be charged to flood control and be repaid out of excess earnings above necessary annual payments to amortize the $140,000,000. (c)—The dam fund not to be used for maintenance. (d)—Interest on advances from fund to be charged at 4 per cent. (e)—How payments on dam to be credited.

Sec. 3.—(a)—Nothing to be done under the bill till the seven states have ratified the pact or until six months have elapsed and not then unless six states shall ratify and California shall agree by legislative enactment that it waives right to all but 4,400,000 acre feet of water for all purposes plus one-half of all surplus water unapportioned by the act. 750,000 acre feet apportioned to Nevada, Arizona and California, of which Nevada gets 300,000, Arizona 2,800,000 and California 4,400,000. Arizona to have all waters of the Gila regardless of any agreement with Mexico. Water given to Mexico, that domestic and agricultural uses of water come first.

(b)—Secretary of interior must have contracts insuring payment in fifty years of cost of the dam before any money is appropriated and the same provision for building the American canal. Sec. 5.—Secretary of interior to contract for storage and delivery of water and power to states, municipal corporations, political subdivisions and private corporations to cover all expenses. All excess payments to be kept for use of Colorado basin. (a) No contract to be made for more than 50 years and these contracts to be readjusted after 15 years and each 10 years thereafter. (b)—Each contract holder entitled to renewal unless he be reimbursed for its loss. (c)—Contracts to be made with responsible persons. Of conflicting applications, secretary of interior shall determine in conformity with policy of Federal Power act and preference given to a state. (d)—Provision for mutual use of trustworthy power lines. Use of public lands for transmission lines authorized.

Sec. 6.—Dam shall be used first for river regulation and flood control; second for irrigation and domestic uses; third for power. Title forever in United States but secretary may lease under provisions of Federal Water Power Act. No permits or licenses affecting Colorado River to be issued. Sec. 7.—When the canal is fully paid for title may be transferred to proper organizations. Sec. 8.—(a)—The compact between the states shall govern all licenses, users and contractors of the water. (b)—Compact between California, Nevada and Arizona shall control uses of water apportioned to those states, subject to compact of the 7 or 6 states. Sec. 9.—All irrigable lands capable or irrigation from Colorado dam be withdrawn from entry and thereafter opened at direction of secretary of the interior, each entryman shall pay his proportion of cost of canal, ex-service men given 3 months preference of entry as well as to those engaged in construction work.

Sec. 10.—Contract of October 23, 1918, between United States and Imperial Irrigation District not to be disturbed. Sec. 11.—Secretary of interior to

BIGAMIST SANE JURY DECIDES LATE TUESDAY

A "heart breaker" who had a leaning toward doctors' daughters in choosing the five wives he is credited with having married, but who claims that he cannot remember marrying one of them, is scheduled to be sentenced by Presiding Judge H. G. Ames at 9:30 a. m. Friday, as a bigamist.

Clarence P. Rand, son of a wealthy former El Paso, Texas, paving contractor is sane. That was the verdict returned by a jury late yesterday in Judge Ames' court. He was convicted of bigamy at a former trial and, in accordance with his plea of not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity, the hearing to establish his mental condition was held yesterday.

The verdict that he was sane on December 15, 1928, when he is accused of having committed bigamy, means that he is eligible for a sentence of not more than 10 years in state prison and also to a fine not to exceed $5000. Franklin C. West, attorney for Rand, stated today that he is investigating the law in the matter with a view to determining whether an appeal or motion for a new trial will be advisable.

At yesterday's trial Deputy District Attorney S. B. Kaufman and Deputy District Attorney Sam L. Collins called to the witness stand Dr. Harry Zaiser, director of the Orange county hospital, and Dr. R. A. Cushman, of Santa Ana, both of whom declared that they believed Rand to have been sane on December 15, 1928.

Sitting near the front of the court room was Hazel Mayes Rand, the last woman the convicted man is alleged to have married. Her face was serious and she listened closely to every word of the testimony as the case seemed to be swinging against her husband and indicated that she may be separated from him for as long as 10 years.

Dr. Zaiser told the jury that he had questioned Rand on Monday and that he had admitted being married four times. Then he smiled, the witness recalled, as he remarked that all his wives had been daughters of doctors. "He told me about being a heart breaker and said it was difficult for him to resist the temptation to go over the line to Juarez and get drunk while he was working in that vicinity. On two occasions when he married said he, he was drunk," the witness said.

Dr. Cushman stated that he had failed to find anything wrong with Rand. On cross-examination by West he said that the only evidence of insanity that he found was Rand's apparent belief that he was being persecuted by Dr. Mayes, the father of his present wife.

James Winn, Santa Ana, was fined $20 in police court yesterday on a drunk charge. Arcadio Flores, 30, Fullerton man, was sentenced to serve 100 days in the county jail or pay a fine of $200 in the justice court there yesterday. He was brought to the county jail here last night.

Police News

Two men arrested last night are being held in the county jail on vagrancy charges. They are Harry Virgil and Edward Alvarado. Both were arrested on Santa Fe railroad property by J. W. Murray, police officer. Two other men, arrested the night before by Officer Murray, were given suspended jail sentences in Judge J. F. Talbot's court yesterday. They were Charles Bell and J. M. Hendrix.

James Winn, Santa Ana, was fined $20 in police court yesterday on a drunk charge.

Arcadio Flores, 30, Fullerton man, was sentenced to serve 100 days in the county jail or pay a fine of $200 in the justice court there yesterday. He was brought to the county jail here last night.

Pleads Guilty To Allowing Boy To Drive Death Car

Thomas H. Fielding, 109 North Parton street, owner of the ice truck which ran down G. J. Palmer, of 801 Spurgeon street, on October 23, almost instantly killing him, pleaded guilty in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning to allowing a 14-year-old boy to operate the truck without an operator's license.

Justice Morrison set the time for the pronouncement of judgment for January 4.

Howard Barker, 14, was driving the ice wagon when it struck Palmer at First and Main streets on the evening of October 23. Palmer was riding a bicycle at the time.

Barker has been held in the county detention home since the fatal accident.

but merely to protect the lives of American citizens, not effectively protected by the local authorities, which was demonstrated by the fact that hundreds of them would have been victims of disturbances agitated in those states which prompted intervention by the United States and United States troops.

"Mr. Hoover insisted that United States marines were sent merely to protect the lives of U. S. citizens and also to prevent bloodshed."

Two 16-year-old boys escaped from the juvenile home on Fruit street on December 17, it was announced today.

The boys were John Kelsey, under commitment to the Preston School for Boys, and Gale Smith, being held in the home on a warrant, it was said.

$5000 BAIL IS SET IN MEXICAN SHOOTING CASE

Jose Cabrales, 25, arrested in Ventura for Orange county officers, yesterday, on an old charge of assault with a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder, was ordered held on bail of $5000 at the time of his arraignment in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court this morning.

F. W. Howard and Joe Scott, deputy sheriffs, returned here early this morning with the prisoner.

Cabrales is asserted to have shot Alejandro Diaz, in La Habra, on January 15, 1928. He had not been seen here since the night of the shooting. Diaz was not badly wounded, it was reported.

Officers had been searching for Cabrales since the night of the shooting. His arrest was brought about when another Mexican informed Ventura officers he was wanted here, it was said.

A WORD OF COMFORT

All art is sterile from which the consciousness of God is lacking. It is conventional, unreal and devoid of inspiration. The same thing is true of personality. If you crowd out a sense of great overruling Presence, if you fail to recognize that God has a difficult but splendid task before you, your spiritual life will become anemic and empty of power, of beauty and of joy. Listen for His voice and you will have courage and strength to go on.

POST GUARD TO PREVENT FRUIT SHIPMENT HERE

Evidence of the spirit of co-operation between horticultural commissioners of Southern California was seen today when A. A. Brock, commissioner for Orange county, received a warning from the Riverside commissioner that 600 boxes of navel oranges, which had tried to meet standardization requirements, apparently had been smuggled out of the neighboring county. A similar allotment of fruit was blocked from shipment in Riverside county before the one in question was reported.

Whether the alleged low grade fruit has been brought to Orange county or not officials here did not know today, but they were prepared to meet the situation if it is found here and to prevent this section from being stigmatized as a shipping point for inferior oranges. The co-operation of the Riverside officials in making known the fact that the fruit is believed to be in transit to some other point in Southern California was complimented by Brock today.

According to information from Riverside, the oranges test four to one, far below the standardization requirements, which specify that they shall contain eight parts of soluble solids to one part of acid, or that they shall have reached 70 per cent color maturity.

Memories of Orange county's famous "rug burglar" of two years ago, who today is a prisoner in San Quentin prison, came to officers here today with the reported theft, yesterday, of nine rugs from the home of Robert M. Simon, one mile south of Laguna Beach, on the state highway.

Three rugs were 9 by 12 feet in size, one 9 by 15, two 6 by 4 and the others smaller. A pistol, a clock and seven silver spoons also were taken.

Entrance was made into the house while members were away from home.

Mrs. D. J. Marshall, 2356 Riverside drive, who underwent an operation in the Santa Ana Valley hospital, December 12, is convalescent and will be removed to her home within the next few days.

Chamber Of Commerce Doings

PARK PROGRAM IS FROWNED ON BY DIRECTORS

The outlined program of promoters of a state park along the south shore line of Orange county will not have the support of the directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, it was indicated today at a meeting of the body.

The program is not feasible because of its large scope, in the opinion of members of the board.

As proposed, the scheme is to acquire virtually all of the Orange county ocean frontage from Corona Del Mar south to a point below San Clemente—property that is conceded to have high value, when based on consideration of the possible development of the future. The suggested tract contains an area of 54 square miles.

A communication from James Irvine sr. to the chamber clearly indicated that he does not desire to relinquish title to the large tract of his ground included in the territory.

Bonds for park purposes were voted by the state last month in the sum of $6,000,000, the fund to be used in matching dollars with individual sections having interest in the establishment of a state park. Assertion was made at the meeting that the 54 square miles of county coast land would cost $12,000,000 or more.

Secretary George Raymer pointed out that in event of establishment of a park in Orange county a district embracing at least Orange and Los Angeles counties would be created, in which event he pointed out, Los Angeles would pay at least 75 per cent of whatever amount would have to be raised to match the state's investment in a park site.

Raymer is to sit in within the next week at a meeting in Los Angeles at which the park program will be discussed. He will learn more of the details of the program and will advise the directors at a later meeting, when action on the proposition may be taken by the local board.

Discussion of the subject was

FEAR OF 'POLITICS' ENTERING PLANNING COMMISSION DELAYS S. A. CHAMBER'S INDORSEMENT

Directors of Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce, in session this morning, deferred further investigation and discussion of the recommendation of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Orange County that the city group indorse the movement to have the board of supervisors appoint a county planning commission. Some 20 organizations in the county have given such indorsement, it was said.

Some members of the board were of the opinion that creation of a commission would be detrimental, not only to Santa Ana, but to the entire county, while others took the opposite view, but virtually all confessed they were not familiar enough with the scope of the duties and authority of a planning commission to vote intelligently at today's meeting.

It was asserted by one member that creation of such a body would offer the opportunity for the further promotion of "politics" in county affairs concerning future developments, the member claiming that it would open the way for individual members to enter into "politics" with his colleagues in the promotion of schemes that were of interest only to the district represented by the individual commissioner.

Doubt was expressed as to it being possible, under the method that would control the appointment of members, to name a group of men who could forget the interests of their individual districts in promotion of schemes that would tend to benefit the entire county. The possibility of such a commission programming a line of action that would be detrimental to the county seat was pointed out as one reason why the chamber should make a thorough investigation of the project before giving its indorsement.

On the other hand, directors who introduced with the reading of a letter from G. L. Skutt, of Pasadena, asking that the chamber forward the "Laguna proposition" to William E. Colby, chairman of the state park commission.

The communities of Laguna Beach, Dana Point, Capistrano Beach and San Clemente are excluded from the boundaries of the outlined state park district.

or reject new road projects. It was suggested that an opinion of District Attorney Z. B. West be procured as to the functions and authority of a planning body and that the possible expense of developing a major planning program and cost of maintenance of a commission be ascertained. Comment was made that considerable investigation would have to be made as a preliminary to the presentation of a map showing a major planning program.

Chapman Resigns As Director Of Commerce Body

Charles H. Chapman, supervisor-elect, today tendered to the directors of the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce his resignation as a member of the body.

In presenting his resignation Chapman pointed out that he is soon to assume the duties of representative of this city on the board of supervisors and offered this as the main reason for wishing to be relieved of the duties of a director in the booster organization.

Compliments were paid the retiring member for his consistent and efficient work for the chamber and his resignation was accepted with regrets.

Berle E. Morthland, one of the active members of the junior chamber of commerce, which recently merged with the senior chamber,

VAGRANT HELD ON SUSPICION OF BURGLARY

George Morris, 37, alleged vagrant, was arrested last night at Third and Spurgeon streets by Officers Perry and Wolford and is being held in the county jail on a suspicion of burglary charge. Officers had searched the city for him three hours yesterday afternoon, after he is asserted to have robbed an automobile and attempted to rob a service station.

First reports of Morris' alleged activities came when M. W. Sweetser, operator of a service station at 902 West Seventeenth street, reported that a man had attempted to loot his cash register.

Sweetser was out of the station at the time and returned just in time to see a man's hand go into his cash register. He yelled and the man turned and ran without taking anything of value, he said. Officers Perry and Adams scoured the neighborhood for the man, but were unable to find him. They tracked him through several walnut groves in the neighborhood.

At 6:30 last night, D. B. Nunley, of 1202 West Fourth street, reported to police that a suitcase, containing clothes, was stolen from his car, parked on West Fourth street. Almost at the same time a call came to the station that a man was seen to hide a number of clothes behind a bill board at Third and Shelton street.

Officers rushed to the scene and located the clothes, but they were unable to find the man who had hidden them.

Morris was arrested a short time later at Third and Spurgeon streets. He claimed, officers reported, that he had found the suitcase.

Sweetser came to the police station and identified Morris as the man whom he had seen in his service station, officers said.

The Sweetser service station previously had been robbed on November 8, when a handit covered Sweetser with a pistol and made his escape with $3.

ACCIDENT CASE DISMISSED BY JUSTICE COURT

Evidence in the case against Dr. George A. Berson, Los Angeles, charged with failure to stop and render aid after an accident, was insufficient, Justice Kenneth Morrison ruled this morning at the doctor's hearing and the case was dismissed.

Another complaint, charging reckless driving, immediately was filed and Dr. Berson pleaded guilty to this charge, receiving a fine of $50, which he paid.

Evidence in the failure to stop case showed that the doctor did stop and render aid, even to aiding one of the women from the car of F. D. Muir, 1114 Junipero street, Long Beach, the complaining witness in the case. Evidence also showed that Dr. Berson left his name and address with the persons in the other machine, Justice Morrison said.

The Berson machine figured in an accident which involved three cars, the third car in the accident being driven by F. O. Johnson, a naval officer, of San Diego. Dr. Berson was arrested Monday in Los Angeles by state traffic officers. The accident occurred Sunday night, near Laguna Beach.

BRONZE AGE URNS

COWDENBATH, Scotland, Dec. 18.—(UP)—After four days of scientific explorations, archaeological experts recently unearthed five cinerary urns of the Bronze Age. The urns contain cremated human bones interred 800 years B. C. Both bones and urns have been placed in a Glasgow Museum.

POSTMASTER ASKS GREETING CARDS FOR DELIVERY HERE BE PUT IN MAIL BY FRIDAY

If the Santa Ana post office's wishes are a guide, Christmas greeting letters meant for delivery in Santa Ana will be in the Santa Ana post office not later than Friday noon, and preferably tomorrow, Postmaster T. E. Stephenson said today.

If all the patrons of the office," said Stephenson, "should wait until Saturday or Sunday to mail their greetings cards and should expect the office to deliver them all on Monday, they would be expecting the impossible. We believe that mailers will recognize the fairness in our request that cards be in the office early enough for us to effect delivery."

L. F. Harvey, superintendent of mails, emphasized the importance of having proper ad-resses on greetings letters. A complete address means that the letter will be thrown directly to the carrier who should resolve it. An improper or incomplete address inevitably causes delay in delivery. This delay, Harvey stated, will almost surely be 24 hours and may be much longer than that.

Monday, this week, was the heaviest day in the history of the post office. Parcel mailings previous to that time were lighter than last year, it was stated at the post office. The postmaster stated that the Christmas delivery service was geared so that all parcels properly addressed would be delivered the same day of their arrival here, 90 per cent of them within eight hours after their arrival.

TEACHERS HEAR DR. MILLIKAN AT INSTITUTE

Drs. A. A. Noyes and Robert Millikan, both prominent in the field of science, are among the lecturers whom teachers of science and mathematics are hearing today and tomorrow at the California Institute of Technology during the regular teachers' institute sessions.

All teachers of science and mathematics in the high school and junior college here were in attendance at the session this afternoon in the Pasadena college.

Topics which are being discussed are "Modern Theories of Heredity," "Economic Geology of Southern California" and "Life in Other Worlds."

Social science and English divisions also will be attended, according to reports at the college. Lyman Bryson, assistant director of the San Diego museum, is to be the speaker for social science teachers, delving into the present social problem of world consciousness and citizenship. Racial relations will be stressed.

English teachers will hear a series of lectures on poetry by J. Duncan Spaeth, professor at Princeton university and well known lecturer of the Pacific coast. William J. Locke, English novelist and author of the "Beloved Vagabond" and "Septimus," will be the speaker at the library section meeting Thursday night.

T. H. Glenn, instructor of English in the Santa Ana junior college, is to preside at the meeting of the Association of English Teachers on Friday. Glenn is vice president of the association.

Now They Even Steal Barber Poles

"Vags and cake-eaters will steal anything," mused C. V. Adams, city detective, as he walked out the police station this morning to investigate the reported theft of a barber pole. The barber pole was reported stolen from Knapp and Paul, barbers, in the Spurgeon building. It was broken off its base and carried away.

RANKIN STORE WILL PRESENT YULE PROGRAM

In accordance with a custom inaugurated several years ago, the Rankin Drygoods company will present its annual Christmas program in the store as a feature of the holiday season and has announced that everyone will be cordially welcome at the event, to be held at 5:30 tomorrow afternoon, immediately after the closing of the store for the day.

The well-known Rankin Songsters will open the program of Christmas carols by singing Franz Gruber's beautiful "Silent Night," after which the Rev. Harry Evan Owings, pastor of the First Baptist church, will lead in prayer. "Joy to the World," which will be second chorus number, will be the Mason arrangement of the famous Handel composition.

Maurice Phillips has consented to aid the chorus and with Miss Dorothy Hurd at the piano, will sing Stevens Adams' "The Star of Bethlehem" as a baritone solo. Neidlinger's "Birthday of a King," by the Songsters, and chorus, and "Come All Ye Faithful" (Reading) will follow, after which a trio, composed of Miss Dorothy Hurd, Miss Mildred Lukens and Mrs. Lucille White, will sing the chorus of "Christmas Bells," by E. K. Heyser, with Maurice Phillips as soloist.

Ira B. Wilson's "The Christmas Song," and "Deck the Halls," a favorite old Welsh air, will conclude the program. The singers will stand just within the Fourth street entrance to the store, grouped before the central counters. The doors will be thrown open to the public for the musical interval.

Mrs. C. E. Hurd is the director of the Rankin Songsters and chorus and Miss Mable Cole serves as pianist. There are about 50 members in the organization and many of these are planning to follow their usual custom of singing carols at different points throughout the city on Christmas eve.

Telephones installed in the United States in the first six months of this year numbered three times as many as those put into service in Great Britain during the whole of last year.

SCHOOLS CLOSE FOR CHRISTMAS ON TOMORROW

Santa Ana school pupils and teachers today were looking ahead to their annual Christmas holiday, which will begin tomorrow and will last until January 2. At the same time preparations were being made for closing schools throughout the county. Some communities made yesterday the final day, the schools in Orange finishing up their pre-vacation work late yesterday.

Thousands of Santa Ana pupils tomorrow will be preparing for the coming of Christmas. Teachers, in many cases, will go to Los Angeles tonight and tomorrow to attend sessions of the California Teachers' association and also to listen to institute lectures.

Large numbers of students of this city are planning to work during the holidays to make extra spending money or to acquire the funds necessary to finance their return to the class room at the opening of sessions on January 2.

CANARY BIRDS ARE POPULAR YULETIDE GIFTS

Among Christmas gifts rapidly growing in popularity in American homes is the famous German Roller canary bird and Mrs. T. J. Neal, of the Neal Sporting Goods store, 209 East Fourth street, today explained the superiority of the German Rollers, of which the store makes a specialty.

According to history, the birds are native to the Canary Isles, Azores, and other small island groups off the coast of Africa and in their natural state were of soft gray color with touches of yellow. The first authentic record shows that a number were trapped and taken to Spain long before the discovery of America, but in more recent years, Germany has developed the perfect song-bird, as other countries have bred for color and fancy markings rather than for music.

"During the 10 years preceding the World war, the United States imported more than 300,000 rollers annually and it is only since the war that breeding has been carried on to any extent in this country," explained Mrs. Neal. "The roller has conquered this country. It is most contented with cage life, is bright and lively and its song is the most beautiful one in nature."

She advocates careful handling, as the little bird is of a nervous temperament, but declared that they respond in marvelous fashion to care and affection. Care in selecting the seed for food is essential as there must be no irritation of the throat muscles upon which depend the melodious bird songs.

Garden Grove Club To Exchange Gifts

GARDEN GROVE, Dec. 19.—The booklovers' section of the Woman's Civic club will hold a Christmas party in the home of Mrs. J. G. McCracken on Garden Grove boulevard near West Fifth street Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Members are requested to answer the roll call with their favorite Christmas quotation or poem. The members will exchange gifts.

Pastor's Family Unable To Reach Here For Holiday

The Rev. Harry Evan Owings, who recently came here from Granville, O., to accept the pastorate of the First Baptist church will spend Christmas here without the presence of his family.

A telegram from a physician in Granville, yesterday, advised him that his daughter, Elaine, is ill and that it will not be possible for Mrs. Owings and her two children to depart for Santa Ana in time for Christmas.

The household effects of the pastor arrived yesterday and will at once be placed in the parsonage.

NOMINATE FOR DIRECTORS OF PLACENTIA C. C.

PLACENTIA, Dec. 19.—The nominating committee composed of E. Eisenacher, F. Aldredge, and Dr. F. J. Yerke, submitted the following names as directors at yesterday's chamber of commerce session: For three year terms, H. H. Hale, William Bielefeldt, E. Everett, Harry Easton and Warren Bradford; for two year term, Richard White and for one year term, Mrs. Nellie Cline.

A resolution was passed that a letter of condolence be sent Mrs. O. C. Christensen and family.

A letter from Louis Plummer, first."

principal of the Fullerton union high school, on the county unit bill, was read. A motion was passed that the chamber go on record as being against this bill.

Winthrop Bowen introduced the subject of more efficient measures for the safety of school children while passing along Bradford avenue. Suggestions were made for a sidewalk along the west side of Bradford avenue, with a tube underneath this street. It was moved that the road committee for 1929 take this matter up.

Speaking along this same line, Louis Jacobsen asked that more police protection be given the children at the Bradford and Chapman avenue crossing and the civics committee was asked to take the matter up with the city council.

Further action was taken yesterday by the Placentia chamber in regard to the motion made last week to the effect that the report of the library committee "not be given to the daily newspapers until the local paper has used it."

LA HABRA STREET EXTENSION URGED

LA HABRA, Dec. 19.—Extension of South Hlalt street to provide a direct route to Fullerton through the Bastanchury ranch was suggested at yesterday's meeting of the directors of the La Habra Chamber of Commerce. A resolution urging the county to make a survey of the proposed extension was adopted.

At yesterday's meeting several directors expressed it as their opinion that the motion be stricken from the records. As this was not possible, a motion was made by Ralph McFadden and seconded by Louis Jacobsen that the motion in question was not to be considered as establishing a precedent. The motion was carried.

$1.80 IN POT; JUDGE 'SAW' THEM AND IT COST EACH $4 TO 'STAY'—OUT OF BASTILE

Five Mexicans, residents of Serra, were arrested last night because they were gambling for a sum total of $1.80.

A poker game, with many pennies in the pot, was in progress, when Deputy Sheriffs Steward, Carter and Clever walked in on the Serra party, it was said, but there was only 1.80 in the possession of all five.

Today, in Justice Kenneth Morrison's court, four of the five pleaded guilty and were given six-months suspended sentence on the condition that they pay fines of $5 each.

E. Greenhouse, one of the Mexicans, didn't have any money at all and was just a spectator at the game, it was said. The charge against him was dismissed.

J. Coral, 30; Jesus Flores, 33; G. Lusania, 22, and M. Mendez were the Mexicans fined.

At the conclusion of their hearings this morning, they told the court that it would be necessary for them to send to San Clemente for the money for their fines. All unanimously nominated Greenhouse to go after the money.

THREE ON TRIAL ON DELINQUENCY COUNT

Trial of Bob Turner, Joe Hammond and Lonnie Speagle, charged with contributing to the delinquency of two young Santa Ana girls, opened today in Superior Judge E. J. Marks' court.

At the opening of the hearing the three cases were consolidated for purposes of trial.

Deputy District Attorney Sam L. Collins and Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodget appeared for the people today, while counsel for the defendants was composed of Dr. D. G. Wettlin, Santa Ana attorney, and T. L. McFadden, Placentia attorney.

DON APPEARS IN FORM OF MAGAZINE

Great interest marked the distribution on the campus of the junior college, this morning, of the special vacation number of The Don, the college newspaper. The edition is the first magazine that ever has been published in the junior college.

Departing from the usual five columns, it appeared as a magazine of 16 pages. Special recognition is given Thelma Morehouse, 1927 editor of The Don, who originated the idea of publishing a magazine, but who was unable to realize her ambition.

Dedication is made to C. C. Stewart, instructor of journalism and advisor for The Don, in recognition of his inspiration for the success of the newspaper. Only two pages are devoted to news. Other features include stories of athletics, a history of the junior college and a page of alumni notes. T. E. Williams, instructor of printing, designed the cover.

Copies are on sale at the college, the Santa Ana Book store and the chamber of commerce, according to Ray Lindman, editor.

EDITOR REGISTER: I wonder how many of the parents of Boy Scouts realize just what they missed Monday night by not attending the big county rally held in the Frances Willard Junior High school where some of the best stunts were put on by the boys and where a great many boys received their honors, which was indeed a beautiful and impressive sight.

I wonder in the first place just how many parents realize the wonderful influence the teachings of the Boy Scout movement have over the lives of the boys, what an incentive they are for his regular attendance at Sunday school, what an influence the teaching has over his life as a scholar. How many know that there is a special merit badge awarded for scholarship? Ralph Kennedy has one. He earned it on finishing from the Frances Willard Junior High school with a record of 100 per cent in all studies and conduct for three years.

Besides this it brings them in contact with such splendid people and its teachings cause them to form such clean, splendid habits and morals. They have only the very finest men and women at the head of this organization, that any parent should be proud to have his boy make friends with.

I am a parent of two boy scouts, a strong booster, and I urge all parents to investigate, and to encourage their boys to attend.

TO CALL ELECTION ON FIRE DISTRICT

The movement for creation of a county fire protection district in Buena Park and surrounding territory had been added impetus today by action taken late yesterday by the board of supervisors in approving the petition of residents in this section for the calling of an election on the issue.

By resolution the board will fix the time of the election on a date in the near future. The matter came up yesterday for action after it had been continued for several weeks.

After the original petition asking approval of the supervisors was filed, another petition was presented to the board signed by residents who were opposed to the creation of the district.

SCHOOL PRINCIPAL IS PRESENTED GIFT

WESTMINSTER, Dec. 19.—A Christmas celebration which began with the opening of school and continued all day until school closed in the afternoon for the holiday vacation, was enjoyed by the pupils and teachers of the Westminster school yesterday.

Mrs. Ora Schrieber, principal of the school, was presented with a beautiful pink crystal console set. "The Christmas Spirit" was read by Miss Cook as the gift was presented to Mrs. Schrieber.

The children of the kindergarten department had their Christmas tree at 10:30 o'clock with a program of songs. A number of the parents of the 28 little folks were present. Mrs. Huddleston is the teacher of this department.

Santa Claus appeared in the other rooms of the school at 1 o'clock and all of the classes from the first grade pupils to those in the eighth grade enjoyed a visit from him. Each room had a decorated tree.

NATIVES LIKE TO TRAVEL IN SOUTH AFRICA

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Under the skin we're all rubes, and no one knows it better than he who travels widely, observes Milton J. Ferguson, state librarian who is now traveling in South America as a representative of the Carnegie foundation.

Since the railroad came to South Africa, the natives have become inveterate travelers, Ferguson wrote in a letter to Charles A. Whitmore, private secretary to Governor Young. The African's cars, third class, are always crowded to the doorways, he said.

Ferguson recently took a "trolley" trip to Victoria Falls, the "Niagara of South Africa." The "trolley," he explained, was filled with eight passengers, and the propelling power was two thin-waisted natives, who pushed the car several miles to the famous scene.

SEEK HUNTERS WHO SHOT TAME QUAIL

FRESNO, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Superintendent P. M. Rasmussen of Roeding Park here, with public opinion behind him, is attempting to learn the identity of three men who killed a large covey of tame quail in the park.

The hunters stopped their automobile and approached the birds which have learned not to fear human visitors in the park.

After firing into the covey, the hunters stuffed the birds into pockets of their hunting coats and drove away in their machine.

Rasmussen said that the raid constituted a violation of the state law on dis rated as a misdemeanor punishable by a heavy fine or imprisonment or both.

NEW BOOKS IN PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Black Continent—strange, enigmatic, inscrutable—how many mysteries are harbored in its depths. We think of magic charms, all that accompanies the strange impulses of primitive man. Within the vast thicknesses of the sombre forests roam animals unheard of in more civilized countries.

In "Slaves of the Sun," Ferdinand Ossendowski tells of the wonders of this dark country. The rich original material which he gives us concerning this continent were supplied by living beings—who had themselves lived under Africa's scorching sun. Slave boys, medicine men, sages, philosophers, a tracker of buffaloes and elephants, colonial officials, all classes have contributed to this fascinating account.

For thousands and millions of years, the sun has sent its maddening rays over the country making slaves of its inhabitants. Because of its potency, they could not find within themselves the power to resist the violence of the white man. The poisonous rays of the sun entered the soul of these white invaders, making them prey to their baser emotions.

At last this curse is beginning to lift very slowly. White men are striving to show the black men the way to victory over the sun, wrestling harvests from the earth, destroying diseases, trying to sow the first seeds of knowledge. There is hope that liberty will shine for the black people in their own country, as it did in a foreign country as a result of the Civil war.

Great Contrast

In great contrast to the darkness of night surrounding Africa is the many hued aspect of the Central American countries as presented by Wallace Thompson in "The Rainbow Countries of Central America."

Starting from Panama the white completeness of the Canal Zone fades behind as the outer rim of the rainbow is touched in the solid, good red earth of Costa Rica. Traveling up the coast the red shades to orange in the gorgeous tropical sunrises of Nicaragua. This gives way to the third hue of the spectrum in the yellow desert sands of Honduras. Salvador, like its place in the symbolic rainbow of Central America is almost eternal green with its exotic growth. Guatemala is crowned with a rim of blue volcanoes, its lakes are blue mirrors, and its cultivated fields tinge the landscape with the blue of fruits and flowers. Thus the azure of the spectrum of Central America comes in the riches and beauty of the lovely eldest of the five rainbow sisters.

At the end of every rainbow there is a pot of gold in brambles waiting the quest of the adventurer. At the foot of the rainbow of Central America there are two pots—one filled full of the gold of raw materials, foods and produce; the other of trade, national development and intent opportunity. Both are hidden in the brambles fear of risk, ignorance of how great the reward and misunderstanding of how genuine the need. However the gold is there waiting the hardy pioneer who will help to develop the opportunities of the tropics. Their future will be big in the world's history.

It is not necessary to travel from our own country to find romance. The colorful drama of the frontier days is unfolded to our eyes in the life of a high-wayman as told by Walter Noble Burns in "The Saga of Billy the Kid."

There are many stories circulating about this boy six-shooter in New Mexico where he spent his time. About these stories is the haze of myth and the glamour of legend. He is becoming the hero of a Northwest Niebelungenlied.

Appeals to Imagination

Such a figure as this cannot help appealing to our imagination. Young, handsome, a careful dresser, light hearted and gay, yet with a record of twenty-one killings. For these deaths he apparently had no remorse. He was never grim or brooding. When the time to kill arrived, kill he did. He lived this life as it came to him without regrets, and when it came time to die at the hand of a man who had once been a friend, it was as though the event had been foreordained.

His lonely grave seems symbolic of his life. It is a bare space on a half acre of desert land. The desert growth around it stops short when it reaches the spot leaving it perfectly bare except for a shoot of prickly pear that crawls like a snake across the heart of Billy the Kid. As we contemplate this lonely spot, a vagrant wind whisks across the plain, a tiny dust devil that spins for a moment madly, futilely, and is swallowed up in nothingness. This is the life of Billy the Kid—a little cyclone of deadliness whirling furiously, purposelessly, vainly between two eternities. Here in his nameless grave on the dreary wind swept flats the Tiger Boy at last rests in peace.

MAIN ST. AT THIRD

WINTERSBURG
WINTERSBURG, Dec. 19.—Maurine and Mildred Moore were honor guests, Saturday evening, at a farewell party given them by Mrs. C. E. Pratt, their Sunday school teacher, who invited class members to the social affair. The Moore family will leave soon to make their home in El Modena.

The party was to have been held at the home of Mrs. Pratt, but owing to illness in the home the party was held instead at the church hall where Mrs. Pratt daughter, Miss Thelma Pratt, and niece, Miss Alberta Pratt took the place of Mrs. Pratt as hostesses. Games of "Donkey" and "Musical Chair" were introduced and at the close of the evening the guests were served delicious refreshments of ice cream and cake. Those present were Verbal Russell, Marion Clemens, Ruth Stinson, the hostesses, Thelma and Alberta Pratt. The honorees, Mildred and Maurine Moore, completed the party. The largest number for some time was in attendance Sunday morning at the Wintersburg Methodist Sunday school, there being 136 present.

The women's class, in charge of the program, varied the usual routine by presenting each Sunday school pupil with a bag of delicious home-made candy in view of the holiday season. John Murdy's class of young men will entertain next Sunday morning. Edna Myrth Graham, of 8 Pedro, was a week-end guest the home of her grandparents, and Mrs. Frank Ulrich.

SCHOOL NEWS

JULIA LATHROP

After an enforced vacation of a week, Lathrop's classes started work again with a nearly normal attendance. A good many students, however, were still absent because of the epidemic of colds and influenza.

On Tuesday, December 11, there were meetings of the Every Girls and the Boys I. X. L. clubs. The Every Girls' club opened its meeting with the president, Juanita Smoot, in the chair. The program, which consisted of a piano solo by Evelyn Crist, a Christmas reading by Ruth Warner, a poem by the president, Juanita Smoot, and a play by Miss Jones' class, was a very good one. Mrs. Webber spoke of the Christmas work which the Every Girls' club does every year and urged contributions for the Christmas barrels in the rotunda. Each girl at the Delhi school is to receive a doll dressed by the Lathrop girls. The boys will receive gifts contributed by the I. X. L. club and contributions of money will be given also at a program to be presented by the Lathrop students at Delhi.

I. X. L.

The Boys' I. X. L. club met on the bleachers with the president, Curtis Garrett, presiding. Announcements were made concerning the play, "A Scream in the Dark," to be presented by Miss Cornell's drama class, on the social service work done by the club, and on thrift. Several musical numbers were given by the Harmonica club, and Mr. Beswick, county supervisor, spoke. After announcements by Coach Scott concerning the basket ball season, the meeting adjourned. An announcement from the office warned the high nine classes that all make-up work and incompletes must be finished by January 18 in order to clear the records for graduation.

The Lathrop P.-T. A. paper drive has been postponed until after the holidays.

Miss L. Thrasher's high nine citizenship class is very proud of having won the contest for the community chest drive. The class, with a membership of 25, contributed $15.05, averaging $0.61 per person. The committee has not decided upon the prize, but a trip to Mission Inn is favored. The class has just finished a study of state government and plans to take up national government next.

ROOSEVELT

Press Club

We are allowed to write school news one day each week in Mrs. Kellogg's room. All the children who have written school news and have had it accepted are forming a school news club. The group calls itself the Press club. The president is Lenore McFarren; the vice president is Jim Gross; the secretary is Genevieve McFarren. The president and vice president have appointed committees to make reports.

Christmas Articles

The classes in Miss Walker's room are making Christmas things. It is a great deal of fun. The other day they cut Christmas decorations. Miss Wells, the principal, collected some of the best. They were the work of Genevieve McFarren, Louise Crawford, Lenore McFarren, Carrie Kimball and Robert Forney. Another day they made scrap books and cut some Christmas trees for the frontispieces.

Danish Book

The Roosevelt school received a book from Denmark. The Danish school children made it. They put their national song in the book. On the cover there was a picture of a boy. On the second page there was the Danish flag. The book had several pages of post cards that show what their buildings are like. There was one page which showed how they dressed long ago. The children wrote a letter to us. It had several interesting pictures.

Health

The sixth grade class at Roosevelt school is making a big book with interesting pictures of the United States to send to Europe. We just received a book of the kind we want to make from Denmark.

Operetta

There is going to be an operetta given by the Willard students. Some of the singers came to Roosevelt school and sang some of their songs. The name of the operetta is "The Ghost of Lollypop Bay," and it will be given Tuesday and Wednesday, December 18 and 19. It is a good play and everyone is eager to go.

Health

The grades from the third to the sixth are studying about health rules in hygiene. Miss Wells teaches the hygiene in the upper grades. The rules she is giving us are about the right foods to eat, and the time to go to bed.

Health

Miss Wherry is making a big book of writing. She is having all the boys and girls make things for it. Next week she will take it to Los Angeles. Many of the schools are making papers for it.

FRANCES WILLARD

Class Motto Chosen

The 1A section of the low seventh grade girls held a class meeting a short time ago during which time they enjoyed an interesting program of singing and readings by various members of the class. Katherine Fitzpatrick class president, presided.

Following the program, the girls chose a class name, their motto, and their colors. The name is "The Cubs," and "Not at the Top, But Climbing" is their motto. The colors elected were green and brown and it was decided to make emblems consisting of a green background with a brown bear on them to wear to school. The 1A section girls are planning an interesting Christmas meeting on Wednesday.

Better Speech

Robert Wimbush, Marian Hawk, and Ella Pleis tied for first place in the Better Speech contest held several weeks ago. They each scored 75 points and the honor will be shared between them on Wednesday when awards will be presented them during the assembly period.

Better Speech week created more interest than most any other special week celebrated this term. The two main contests of the week, which were held before the assembly, caused intense excitement. The first was a contest for the best talk on the subject, "Advantages of Good Speech." The contestants were Elizabeth Garlock, low seventh; Beatrice Wolfe, high seventh; Marian Hawk, low eighth; Rita Hancock, low ninth, and Fay McCurdy, high ninth. The judges awarded the first place to Rita Hancock; second to Marian Hawk, and third to Elizabeth Garlock.

The spelling contest consisted of 42 contestants, two from each section. Gene Thompson, low ninth, was the winner of this contest; Hubert Dale, made second place, and Robert Scharm, third.

The ten highest records of the entire contest were made by the following: Robert Wimbush, 75 points; Marian Hawk, 75; Ella Pleis, 75; Robert Scharm, 71; Ruth Pleis, 65; Mildred Franke, 65; Aileen Fitzpatrick, 63; Virginia Fox, 63; Hubert Dale, 60, and Irma Fernandez, 57.

Christmas Party

A Christmas party is being planned by the Every Girls' club for the children of the Grand Avenue school. Under the direction of Mrs. Edith Thatcher, girls' advisor, the Willard girls have done this every year. Each girl in Willard will bring some gift and put it in the Willard gift house. Just before the holidays the gifts will be distributed to the children and at the same time an interesting program will be given. Santa Claus and his messengers will be present at this party. Bringing Christmas cheer to those little children is one of the most enjoyable events in the school year of the Every Girl's club.

Christmas Assembly

The Every Girl's club, under the direction of Mrs. Edith Thatcher, enjoyed a lovely Christmas meeting last Friday morning. Following the business meeting consisting of the reading of reports, Mrs. Thatcher gave an interesting talk to the girls on "The Christmas Spirit." Names of the Grand Avenue street school children were passed out to the girls and all those taking names will bring some suitable gift for the child whose name she drew, and all the gifts will be taken to the school Tuesday for a Christmas celebration. The girls in Willard look forward to giving a Christmas treat to these children every year. Ruth Jenkins delighted the audience with a Christmas reading, "The Bird's Christmas Carol." The singing of Christmas carols was another most enjoyable part of the program. All the girls joined in singing many of the familiar old Christmas songs.

Club Assembly

Last Thursday at the monthly meeting of the Willard Booster club, G. S. Gummere, representative of National Automotive and Electrical company of Los Angeles, was the speaker. Mr. Gummere talked to the boys on the subject of "The Sacrifice Hit," in which he illustrated his talk by stories of purely grandstand plays against a "sacrifice hit." He compared the grandstand player as the type of person who always made an effort to put himself forth as a hero, regardless of the cost to anyone else. Usually the grandstand player works against the team to exalt himself. The fellow who makes the "sacrifice hit" is the one who follows orders of the game, making it possible for someone to score for the team. Although his part may be very essential to a victorious outcome, no special glory comes to him. However, this is the kind of person that counts.

The boys appreciated Mr. Gummere's interesting talk and hope to have the pleasure of listening to him again.

McKINLEY

Last Wednesday morning in Miss Hasty's room we drew names and we are to buy a Christmas present for that person. The gift is not to cost more than ten cents.

Spelling

Every Friday afternoon in Miss Chase's room we have a spelling test. We have a chart and the pupils who have all of their words spelled correctly receive a gold star. But if they misspell any words they have to come in and write it fifty times. So students always try to get them all correct. —June Bruner.

In Mrs. Peterson's class we are studying about winter birds and enjoy them very much. —June Bruner.

Poem

In Miss Chase's room we are choosing one from each class to write a poem. Two are chosen to read the poem and think of some kind of a picture to illustrate it. Then they draw the picture and paste it on the paper with the poem.

—Naomi Dennis.

In our language class we are learning a poem, "The American Flag." I know that each pupil will enjoy studying this because it is a poem about our country.

—Lois Newbold.

We are studying "The Stones Reading Book" in Miss Pitts' class.

—Adaline Childs.

Booklets We are making animal booklets in Mrs. Peterson's room. We are writing about the lesson, and then we write it in our booklets, after which we paste in the picture of the animal.

—Adaline Childs.

In Miss Hatch's room we are making Christmas cards and baskets.

—Richard Wright.

McKinley school is having a Christmas program Wednesday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock in the kindergarten room.

—Richard Wright.

For slapping the face of Fraulein Silly Austen's mother because she refused to withdraw alleged slanders, Frau von Resznicek has been disqualified by the German Lawn Tennis association for six weeks.

Have You Heard...?

That we have a large display room, packed with mirrors. If you haven't, that's the reason we are telling you so now and we suggest you would see these as they make very nice Christmas gifts.

COMMERCIAL NATIONAL BANK

Announces

the Appointment

—of—

J. S. SMART

—As—

Executive Vice President Effective January 1st, 1929

For 15 years Mr. J. S. Smart has been prominent in the commercial, social, civic and religious life of Santa Ana. His successful experience in business covers more than 50 years.

He will be the loan officer of the bank.

It will be his pleasure to serve all the friends and patrons of the bank in any way possible.

The officers and directors are as follows:

J. P. BAUMGARTNER, President

J. S. SMART, Executive Vice President

S. H. FINLEY, Vice President

E. ROCKHILL, Cashier

J. C. Horton, Clyde C. Downing, W. V. Whitson, Arthur J. McFadden, Albert Hill, A. W. Gerrard, James B. Utt, H. J. Seba, John Osterman, Theo. A. Winbigler, Dr. J. C. Reardon, and John Knox.

The Food Question— Wholesome Food for Sturdy Families By Isabel Allobach Home Service Department— SOUTHERN COUNTIES GAS CO.

Show me the man or boy, or girl or woman who doesn't enjoy good home made cake. There is something about it that pleases more than the sense of taste. With a serving of cake baked in the home kitchen there is an appreciation of the thought which prompted the baker of the cake. It is accompanied by a flavor all its own—a flavor that is never found in cake baked by unknown hands.

I know many cooks who are excellent cake makers. But occasionally one of them will tell me of a disastrous experience in which one of their favorite cakes, planned for a special occasion like a very particular luncheon or tea, had failed them. The reason for such failures, when they do happen, seems to be that—either in haste or over anxiety—one of the five essentials to a perfect cake was overlooked.

These five essentials—as I see them—are:—

- 1st—Quality of the ingredients.
- 2nd—Accurate Measurements.
- 3rd—A reliable Recipe.
- 4th—Perfect Blending.
- 5th—Proper Baking.

Under the subject of "quality of ingredients" I do not mean that the most expensive ingredients must be used. Substitutions may be made from the original recipe providing the substitutes are not of an inferior grade. For example when a recipe calls for butter, and a vegetable fat is to be used as a substitute, one should remember that double the amount of salt should be used since vegetable shortenings are not salted and a cake is flat without the use of a small amount of salt. Eggs must be sweet and good. If fresh eggs are too high in price, water glass or storage eggs may be used but be sure they are in excellent condition. The addition of eggs to cake batter make it light and fine grained. If you wish to substitute baking powder for an egg, use one teaspoonful for each egg omitted. Also add three tablespoons liquid for each egg omitted. Standard measuring cups and spoons should be used if you are to be absolutely certain that your proportions are exactly as called for in the recipe. All measurements should be level. Always sift the flour once before measuring. In the blending and mixing of a cake the utmost care should be taken. The shortening and the sugar should be thoroughly creamed. Add the well beaten eggs to the first mixture. The flour and the wetting I add in small portions alternately. The baking powder is sifted several times with the last of the flour.

More cakes are spoiled by poor baking than through failure in any other part of the cake baking process. The "time and temperature" method is accurate. This method is available to all cooks who have mechanical oven heat control now found on all the modern gas ranges. With the oven at the given temperature, your cake placed in that temperature for the stipulated length of time you will find the baking of your cake assuredly as you would have it. Here is a little recipe which I have used often with Globe A-1 Flour and it never has failed me yet.

(Clip here for your Scrap Book of Recipes)

PLAIN WHITE CAKE

- | | |
|---------------------|---------------------------|
| ¾ Cups Shortening | 1½ Cups Sugar |
| 3 Cups Pastry Flour | 3 Eggs |
| 1 Cup Water | 4 Teaspoons Baking Powder |
| ½ Teaspoon Vanilla | 1 Teaspoon Salt |

The egg yolks I add to the creamed sugar and shortening and beat in well. Then add a small amount of the flour, then some of the wetting, and then some flour until all is used, sifting the baking powder into the last of the flour. Fold in the egg whites beaten stiffly, last. Bake in 3 medium layers or 2 large layers at 350° for 10 minutes reset to 400° for 8 minutes, turn off gas and leave for about 5 minutes longer, or until cake breaks from sides of pan. Any frosting may be used with cake. This makes a large cake and will cut into 14 nice servings.

CONDUCT FUNERAL OF TUSTIN PIONEER

TUSTIN, Dec. 19.—Funeral services were held today in Los Angeles, for Mrs. H. M. Newell, pioneer of Tustin, who passed away at her home at 4402 Esmeralda street, Los Angeles, Saturday.

Mrs. Newell was born in Cambridge, Mass. Before her marriage to H. M. Newell she was Miss Harriett G. Noyes. She met and married Mr. Newell in San Francisco when she went west to visit a sister in that city. The Newells went to Riverside to live after their marriage and set out one of the first orange groves in Riverside county.

In 1880, Mr. and Mrs. Newell came to Tustin, built several houses and set out three large orange groves. Members of the Episcopal church, they played a prominent part in establishing and building the Episcopal church of the community, which was located on East First street at that time.

Mr. Newell died about two years ago. They leave no children or relatives.

HEARD ON THE STREET

They were discussing water conservation. One, a rancher, was trying to impress the "city guy" with the importance of Paul Bailey's report on the Santa Ana river flood control, urging that the dam be built soon and that it is to be an earth-fill dam.

"Nothing doing," replied the city guy, "the only thing I'm for is a boulder dam!"

VIEWS OF THE NEWS

You can now get Shakespeare all in one volume, and all of Gene Tunney in one punch.

Sweet are the uses of adversity. With a little exaggeration they make dandy campaign issues.

"Wonder what the big captains of industry do when they are not predicting 'continued prosperity'?"—St. Joseph News-Press. Busy getting their share of the present.

County planning honor roll of endorsements previously reported include 19 civic and booster organizations in Orange county. Additional this week are:

Anaheim Kiwanis Club
Orange County South Coast Association
Yorba Linda Women's Club
Anaheim Business and Professional Women's Club
Newport Harbor Post No. 291, American Legion.

Hearty and unanimous are the people in approval of the movement for the appointment of a county planning commission. Endorsements come from the sunkist hills of La Habra to the rock-washed shores of Laguna; from the lemon groves of Yorba Linda to the tide-worn sands of Sunset Beach. Probably no movement of a general county-wide nature has ever received or ever will receive such generally favorable expression as has this. Cross sections of the county taken side-wise, lengthwise, up, down and around all show the healthy trend of thought for a plan of public development that will serve as a guide for present and future years. Consummation of this ideal on the part of the people of Orange county is inevitable.

BILLBOARDLETS

THE FUMIGATOR has said a lot against billboards and signs tacked on trees and posts, in other words, against outdoor advertising and commercialization of scenery. But listen to Mr. T. H. McDonald, Chief of the Bureau of Public Roads, Agricultural Department of the Federal Government. Mr. McDonald says:

"Designedly placed where they will receive the utmost attention, they (the billboards) frequently obscure or mar attractive roadside views and so detract from the pleasurable use of the highways. Accustomed as we are to their unwanted presence in ordinary surroundings, to come upon these blatant commercial appeals high on the face of a majestic cliff, marring a mountainside, or completely obscuring a particularly beautiful vista awakens a sense of their utter incongruity. In practically all cases these roadside advertisements merely repeat in the same form appeals made quite properly through other agencies. Their disfigurement of the landscape is a national disgrace."

The above statement APPEARS IN THE ANNUAL REPORT OF THE DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE, UNITED STATES OF AMERICA!

We have done little or nothing about these "Blah blah" appeals along the highways simply because we have taken them too much for granted and, in the words of Theodore Roosevelt, "let selfish men and greedy interests skin our country of its beauty, its riches and its romance."

In addition to the impairment of traffic safety, in addition to the ruining of landscapes, in addition to the expression of an almost utter commercialization of the soul of America caused by unwanted, unnecessary, unattractive billboards and signs under the class of outdoor "advertising," there is the salient fact that much of their "copy" consists of meaningless phrases devoid of profitable suggestion even from a business standpoint.

Champion Horseshoe Pitcher Here For Exhibition

YOUTH. 22. TO CONTEST LOCAL TOSSING STARS

"Put" Mossman, 22-year-old world champion horseshoe pitcher, will demonstrate the skill that catapulted him to the top of his profession in a series of exhibition games with Santa Ana experts tomorrow afternoon.

The Eldora, Iowa, youth, who once had a tryout as a baseball player with the Boston Braves, will appear on the courts on the city lot back of the Santa Ana water works, between Parton and Flower streets on Walnut street. The games will begin at 2 o'clock. No admission will be charged.

In his first demonstration, Mossman, blindfolded, will oppose a leading Santa Ana tosser. Then he will meet two local experts, pitching only two shoes to their four. If he loses either match Mossman has promised to present his conquerors with one of his own official pitching shoes. At the end Mossman will give an exhibition of trick and fancy shots.

The youth won the world's championship in a tournament at Minneapolis and St. Paul in 1924 when he was only 18. He defended his title successfully in 1925 at Lake Worth, Fla. In 1926, at St. Petersburg, Fla., Mossman lost the championship by two points to Frank Jackson but regained it in a challenge series that was held in the Chicago Coliseum. He beat Jackson, 5 to 2, in this famous match, and has ruled the root ever since.

Mossman claims he is the only horseshoe pitcher in the game who can throw 50 per cent ringers, or better, with five different holds and turns on the shoe. He makes ringers with the shoe as it loops the loop and is almost as efficient with his left hand as his right. One of his best tricks is to light a match set at the bottom of the peg with a shoe pitched from a distance of 40 feet and then put it out with another. His greatest record is 39 ringers out of 40 shoes thrown.

BRAXTON IS RATED BEST A. L. PITCHER

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Garland Braxton, left-handed pitcher for the Washington Senators, was the leading pitcher in the American league during the 1923 season, according to the official pitching records released here.

Braxton, who took part in 38 games, had an earned run average of 2.52 per nine innings, placing him .04 ahead of Herb Pennock, veteran New York Yankee southpaw who was second.

In the matter of games won and lost Braxton was far down the list with a record of 13 wins and 11 defeats. Waite Hoyt, Yankee right hander, led in this, winning 23 and losing 7 games for an average of .767.

Yankees Expected To Release Dugan

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—The New York American league club is expected to announce today that Joe Dugan has been released unconditionally, paving the way for a battle of bankrolls between the Chicago Cubs and the Brooklyn Robins for the services of the veteran third sacker.

Bruin Quintet Is Again Triumphant

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 19.—The University of California Bruins won their fourth consecutive basketball victory last night in a 40 to 23 triumph over the Hollywood Athletic club here.

WILMINGTON, Calif., Dec. 19.—Arizona Joe Rivers and Bobby La Salle, welterweights, will clash here tonight.

THEY'RE GOOD FRIENDS—NOW

When the American league magnates met at Chicago recently, these three young managers spent a great deal of their time trying to arrange a few trades. Bucky Harris, of the Tigers, and Roger Peckinpaugh, of the Indians, did make one whereby George Uhle went to the Tigers for Jackie Tavener and Kenneth Holloway. Lena Blackburne, White Sox manager, couldn't horn in on that one, even though he wanted Uhle. Blackburne is shown at the left, Harris in the center, and Peck at the right.

WESLEY FESLER, ALL-AMERICA END, IS STORY BOOK TYPE OF HERO; HIS TACKLE AIDED HIM

By BOB MATHERNE
(NEA Service Sports Writer)

One of those heroes you read about in story books and seldom see in real life—that seems the sort of a fellow this Wesley Fesler, Ohio State's All-America end, is. Fesler, so we judge from the manner in which practically every important expert picked him for All-America, is the standout end of the year just like Cagle, Strong and Harpster are standout backs and Pund is the standout center. And every time Russ Ashbaugh, coach of Fesler's high school team at Youngstown, O., sees an All-America selection with Fesler's name at end, he chuckles a bit harder.

HERNANDEZ AND CHAVEZ BATTLE HERE TONIGHT

Lean Leo Hernandez, San Gabriel's boxing genius, may wear the Western Amateur Athletic association's junior welterweight championship belt after tonight.

Hernandez meets the titleholder, Zenaydo Chavez, of Santa Ana, in the main event of the Orange County Athletic club's boxing show and the chances are about even that he dethrones the mild-mannered Mexican. Chavez has been off form for three weeks. His timing is poor and he seems to have slowed down to a walk, distressing signs in a boxer so immature. In a way it might react to Zenaydo's eventual benefit if Hernandez should relieve him of the belt. Chavez has had to worry about defending his title almost every time he starts and this may explain the sudden success in the improvement that was so noticeable a few months ago. Hernandez

ANGRY SHARKEY SENDS RICKARD CAUSTIC WIRE

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY
United Press Staff Correspondent
NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—A bitter feud between Tex Rickard and Jack Sharkey seemed possible today following a caustic telegram sent the promoter by the Boston heavyweight.

Evidently aroused because Rickard has criticized him for "wanting to pick his opponents," Sharkey sent the promoter a telegram in which he said he was ready to "take on Stribling, Paolino and Dempsey one after another in New York, Chicago, Philadelphia or Boston rings under your management."

Rickard previously had announced plans to hold a bout between Stribling and Sharkey at Miami Beach, Fla., late in February, with the winner to get a probable shot at Dempsey. From his attitude Sharkey will have no part of Rickard's plan. The Boston gob said he was ready to fight Stribling, but not in Miami Beach.

Sharkey charged Rickard with being Stribling's manager and said the promoter had made an offer to buy his contract.

"I know you are peeved when I refused $60,000 to go under your management,"

Sharkey's telegram read, "But I would not do so for 60 million. When Knute Hansen, whom you brought from Europe and agreed to manage, was knocked out by Christner you assumed the management of Young Stribling who was all but chased out of a New York ring by Berlenbach."

"I understand you also have the controlling interest in Paolino, while everybody knows you manage Dempsey."

The garrulous gob challenged Dempsey, in the telegram, to meet him on a winner take all basis, saying:

"You say Dempsey is your ace in the hole and that he is going to fight again. Get him to sign on the dotted line and I shall agree to meet him, winner take all. Dempsey cannot lick me and you and he know it. Foul blows saved him last time, and made your three million dollar gate in Chicago possible."

"The big bum always quits when ever he gets a chance," Rickard said. "That's what he did last year against Risiko. If he wants to fight Stribling at Miami Beach, all right, but if he doesn't why I'll use Paolino instead. I'm not worrying whether Sharkey wants to fight or not. If he thinks he can get by this sort of bluff he's crazier than I thought he was. The next champion has got to be a fighter and Sharkey has to prove to me and everyone else he's as good as he thinks he is."

Rickard laughed at the idea of managing any fighter, saying he did not have any interest in Dempsey, Stribling or anyone else.

Jack Sharkey

He said he was ready to fight Stribling, but not in Miami Beach.

As a concluding remark, he gave Fesler a friendly tap on the nose which brought forth blood, but Fesler played his heart out against Princeton. That was his first big step towards the All-America honor.

Fesler, as mentioned above, is one of those story book heroes whose deeds inspire the younger generation to bigger and better things.

He has no bad habits. He doesn't swear. He is the leader of a Sunday school class in his home town. He works hard every day at practice. He trains strictly. And he is an "A" student in his classes of the engineering school.

WHAT TERRIBLE SAPS!

There was a time not so many years ago, in what is sometimes referred to as the good old days, when almost all of the big baseball deals were made over the bar in the Waldorf-Astoria hotel in New York. The winter meetings were then very heavy drinking sessions for baseball and to some extent the meetings that followed in the drier period were game attempts to live up to the old standard.

The baseball clans all gathered this year in Toronto for the most

TWO S. A. MEN ON CONFERENCE ALL-STAR TEAM

Harold Hylton, tackle, and Bill Dugger, fullback, of Santa Ana, found themselves rated today as the best at the respective positions in the Western division of the Southern California Junior College conference. Hylton is captain-elect of the Don football squad.

Two All-Conference elevens were selected by the sports staff of The Don, local junior college publication.

On the first string were named three Fullerton players, two from Santa Ana, Pasadena and Compton and one from Glendale and Long Beach.

George Warner, end; Joe Warner, guard; Captain Don Woodington, center, and Gagnald Rust, fullback, were nominated on the second squad by the Santa Ana publication.

Covington, former Santa Ana but now of Glendale, was one of the first string backs selected.

Probably the most surprising thing was the placing on the second squad of "Laddy" Thompson, ace back of the champion Pasadena eleven.

WILLARD BOYS OPEN BASKETBALL SEASON

By JACK WRIGHT

Coach "Sweede" Lund will send his Frances E. Willard junior high school basketball squad into its first game of the season late today, meeting Coach Clyde Cook's strong high school Class C quintet.

Coach Lund does not expect much from his boys today because they have not been practicing long enough to absorb anything except fundamentals but the Indians will be larger than their opponents, and may get away with something. Lund expects to send in most of his seniors, of which there are about 25 on his squad, and let them all have a chance in the scrimmage.

Despite the handicaps and a slight lack of interest in basketball, the first team Keogan had at Notre Dame in 1923-1924 was better than any in years. They won 15 games and lost eight. His team a year later won 11 while losing 10.

This success caused the university officials to get generous and when the third year of Keogan's stay arrived his team was using a brand-new $5000 basketball court, one of the best in the country, built in an addition to the gymnasium.

Champions Two Years
The Irish were western champions in 1925-1926. They repeated the next year. Each club won 19 games and lost only one, each year losing out to Franklin, Ind. These games were lost on a small court at Franklin, and it is interesting to note that the Irish whalloped the Franklin boys each year when they had them on that big court at South Bend.

Last year was not quite as good a season for Keogan's team. They lost four games, Butler, Northwestern, Michigan State and Pittsburgh beat them, but every one was licked in return battles except Pittsburgh. The Panthers, an undefeated eleven, scored more than 19 points. They scored 22 and all the Irish could get was 20. Had the boys followed Keogan's theory, they would have won.

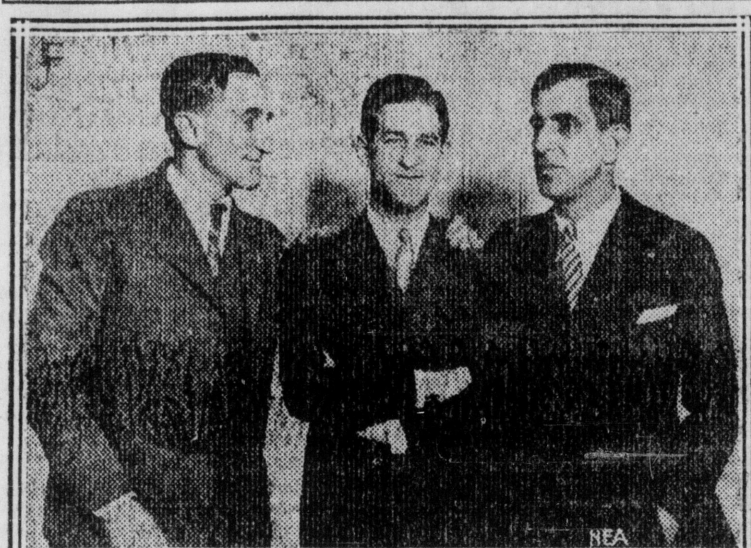

Employ Three Styles
Notre Dame teams are familiar with and employ three general styles of play. In some games, the short pass, pivot and dribble attack is used; in other games, the slow, methodical type of play, generally known as the delayed offense. Again, he uses the fast-breaking offense typical of Indiana basketball.

Keogan stresses a tight defense. That is the basic fundamental of his 19-point theory. If your opponent doesn't score 19 points, you want to win; if they score 20 or more points, you have only a 50-50 chance to win.

Notre Dame's basketball team looks at this stage as if it will be one of the best teams of the year. They have nine lettermen back, including every regular of last year. They play what were considered the two strongest teams in the east

IRISH OUT FOR CASABA TITLE

The Notre Dame basketball team, with nine veterans of last year on the squad, entertains hope of blasting their way through all opposition this season. The Irish meet all important teams in the mid-west and two of the strongest in the east, Pittsburgh and Pennsylvania. Here are the co-captains of the squad this year, Frank Crowe, forward, left, and Joe Jachym, guard, right. The inset is of Coach George Keogan, one of the best in the business.

DON'T LET OPPONENTS GET 19 POINTS; THAT'S WAY TO WIN IN BASKETBALL CLAIMS COACH

Mr. George Keogan, whose business it is to make Notre Dame basketball teams as famous as Notre Dame football teams, has his own particular pet theory about the winning of basketball games. Any time you can hold your opponents to 19 points in one game, you should put that game on the victory side of the ledger.

That is Keogan's theory and from the manner in which his teams at South Bend in recent years have been winning it must be accepted as a very sound theory and one worth getting a slight bit of attention from some of the institutions whose teams don't rate as high as those teams at Notre Dame.

It may be news that Notre Dame basketball teams rate just as much in their own particular sport as Rockne's football teams do in the grid world. In fact, long before Rockne made Irish football teams at Notre Dame what they are today the basketball teams of that institution were right on top with the best.

Keogan Started in 1923
That, to be true, was many years ago and the few years before George Keogan took charge were not ones to brag about. But in the olden days, along about the time that "Hippo" Vaughn, later to become famous as a fullback at Harvard, was playing center for Irish cage teams, the Irish had teams that took the best over in a basketball tussle.

The Irish basketball teams were down, in fact way down, when Keogan arrived in 1923. Only one basketball court was available for practice. All home games had to be played in the local Y. M. C. A. gymnasium.

Despite the handicaps and a slight lack of interest in basketball, the first team Keogan had at Notre Dame in 1923-1924 was better than any in years. They won 15 games and lost eight. His team a year later won 11 while losing 10.

ORDER PLAYERS TO CAMP HERE WEEK EARLIER

Portland's entire squad of baseball talent, numbering in the neighborhood of 40, will be ordered to report in Santa Ana February 15, to begin spring training at the Orange County Fair grounds.

President Thomas L. Turner and Secretary Roy Mack, the big guns on the Beaver band wagon, have directed that practice begin that day. Ordinarily the pitchers and catchers of a professional club are sent to camp at least a week earlier than the rest so the hurlers will be in good enough condition to throw a few up at the hitters when they arrive.

This procedure will not be followed this season, however, because the Pacific Coast league race will start April 6, a full week earlier than ever before, and the Beaver group will report in a bunch so that no time may be lost.

One of the reasons given for the poor showing of the Beavers in the early part of the 1923 campaign was the fact that some of the men were not in shape. It was said that the diamond at the Fair grounds was so soft that the veteran players did not get their legs hardened sufficiently and when they got on the firmer playing fields around the circuit their "dogs" acted up on them.

Transportation to Santa Ana will be sent approximately 30 players, it is understood. Bill Rodgers, the peppery "Raw Meat" Rodgers of coaching fame, will run the club. He took over the burden from Ernie Johnson in mid-season last summer.

The Beavers are expected to stop at some Santa Ana hotel against though there is said to be a movement under way to divide its eating and sleeping business with Anaheim and Fullerton. Whether this will be satisfactory to the Portland executives is doubtful as the players prefer to while away their leisure hours in a larger community and certainly at the place nearest their training camp.

The problem of lodging is up to the club itself, however. The training camp was underwritten by the Santa Ana Chamber of Commerce last season and the players stayed here of course but now that the Orange County Fair association is sponsoring the venture the club can do what it likes. Last year Secretary Mack called for bids from various local hostilities, finally making arrangements to stop at St. Ann's Inn.

'WILD BILL' COX IS EASY FOR EMANUEL

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—Armand Emanuel, San Francisco attorney-pugilist, today sought more worlds to conquer, following his two-round knockout victory here last night over "Wild Bill" Cox, Pasadena heavyweight and former Pacific Coast amateur champion.

The combat lasted exactly 4 minutes and 30 seconds. Emanuel battered his opponent from the opening gong until the referee intervened to stop the slaughter.

Cox put up a game battle, but the Jewish bay city battler was at all times the master of the situation. With cool deliberation, Emanuel pounded and mauled his adversary all over the ring.

CHICAGO, Dec. 19.—Finals in the international billiard tournament here will be played this afternoon and tonight, with Johnny Layton, Missourian, and Willie Hoppe of New York, crossing cues for the three cushion championship and Ralph Greenleaf of New York, present champion, defending his title against Frank Taberski of Schenectady, N. COLLEGIANS GO TO RIVERSIDE FOR CAGE TILT

For their third game in three days, Coach Bill Foote's Santa Ana junior college basketball team travels up the Santa Ana canyon tonight to meet Riverside, probably the strongest entry in the Eastern division of the Southern California J. C. conference.

Coach Foote intends to take along his entire squad and if the score permits will send in all his reserves. The Don mentor believes that lots of work in the early part of the season is a better conditioning than gymnasium mechanics and up to the week of the first conference contest hopes to arrange a long series of practice games. The Dons are undefeated so far in four starts. They will practice through this week and then knock off until the day after Christmas when daily practice will be resumed.

The Santa Anans just had a romp drubbing the Anaheim high school quintet, 53 to 16, at Anaheim yesterday. The prep combination was outclassed from the beginning, the score at half-time being 25 to 8. George Preble, who did not start in the lineup, was high in points with 11. Kench Tanaka, former Anaheim boy, was next with seven. Youel, Kolkhurst and Hogue all made six.

George Righter, Anaheim coach, complimented Foote on his prospects. Righter thinks his team is a fair shot of a club as high school teams go but he admitted they had no business on the same floor with the collegians.

An experiment is under way out at J. C. in basketball this year. Coach Foote put the proposition up to the players and they accepted it as being worth a trial. The idea is that no season captain will be elected. Before each game a temporary captain will be appointed and at the end of the season the lettermen will have a meeting and elect at that time an honorary captain.

Yesterday's lineup: Santa Ana (53) (16) Anaheim

Kolkhurst.....D..... Dunham
Hogue.....C..... Moore
Sweetnam.....G..... Van Meter
Beatty.....G..... Riley
Substitutions
Santa Ana—Preble, Dewa, White, Dutton, Adams, Cook, Tanaka, Harker, Swindler, Valentine, McPherson. Anaheim—Ott, Tuma, Bomb, Alexander.

FIGHT RESULTS

ST. LOUIS, Dec. 19.—William Lawrence ("Young") Stribling, Bathbridge, Ga., contender for the heavyweight title abandoned by Gene Tunney, contemptuously flicked another obstacle from his path in his march toward the top of the last here last night. He landed five left jabs and one right cross in 56 seconds and Billy Freas of Chicago was eliminated before the fight had gone a minute. Freas never landed a blow. He was so busy minding Stribling's left that the right cross to the chin raised him high off his feet. Stribling and a second picked him up. Stribling weighed 185, Freas 170.

PARIS, Dec. 19.—Al Brown, bantamweight, won on points from Harry Corbett, British featherweight champion, in a 12-round fight here last night.

MINNEAPOLIS, Dec. 19.—Harry Dillon, Winnipeg heavyweight, won a technical knockout over Mike Mandell, St. Paul, in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round bout.

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—Armand Emanuel, San Francisco Jewish lawyer, won on a technical knockout from "Wild Bill" Cox, Los Angeles light heavyweight, in the second round of a scheduled 10-round bout here last night. There was no knock-down, but Cox was taking a drubbing.

to inflate the value of his franchise or boost the price of a ball player he announces that he is about to do business with the Yankees.

In recent weeks it has been reported that Col. Ruppert had bought the Syracuse, Nashville, San Antonio, Atlanta, Chambersburg and Asheville ball clubs and that they might organize a new league of eight clubs.

SOMETHING MIGHT HAPPEN

"Howling Dan" Howley cried on the shoulders of every correspondent who visited the training camp of the St. Louis Browns last spring. His anguish over the prospects for his club touched the hardest booted of his listeners almost to tears with him.

"I'm depending entirely on rookies," he wept. "And a baseball man knows how many rookies come through. I've got one on second and one on short and if they don't come through I'm sunk. I'm sunk already, I guess, on the law of averages."

But as it turned out the Browns didn't do so badly. In fact they did swell. The rookies, Kress and Brannon, came through and the Browns were the most improved ball club in the majors.

"What are you going to cry about next spring," Dan was asked during the minor league meetings.

"I will have to admit that I am in a tough spot for howling," the Howley said. "But, you will have to agree, something might happen to some of those fellows before the season opens."

SPEAKER MADE HIM HOWL

Howley couldn't howl about his ball club when he was trying to put on his act for the minor magazines, but he let out a howl that was heard for several city blocks when Tris Speaker went to work on him one night.

A bunch of the fellows were in a room in the hotel having a small party when Speaker, recently appointed manager of the Newark International league club, walked into the room.

"Hello, there, bushy," Howley gave him as a greeting.

And as a friendly response Speaker put a head lock on him that had him howling as he never had howled before.

FELL INTO PRIZE

All the baseball men seem to be agreed that the Browns got a great break when they signed Ferrell, a young catcher from Columbus, after he had been declared a free agent by Commissioner Landis.

It may be recalled that Ferrell was the property of the Detroit Tigers and had been placed in Columbus under cover. John McGraw tried to draft him for the Giants and was told that he wasn't subject to the draft as he had not been with a major league club. McGraw insisted that he was the property of the Detroit club. The commissioner investigated and penalized Detroit by declaring the young man a free agent.

Ferrell then sold himself to the Browns for $25,000 and those who saw him working at Columbus say he is worth twice the money. Clyde Tuttle, Columbus sports editor, who has been watching the American association for many more years than he cares to admit, says he is the greatest catcher the association has seen in 20 years.

Jack McAllister, former manager of the Cleveland Indians, a man who knows something about catchers, says he is the greatest young catcher he ever saw.

"I had Luke Sewell when he came up and I know something about catchers," he said. "He's the greatest prospect I ever saw. He's the first catcher since Archer who can line 'em to second from a squatting position."

BERKELEY, Calif., Dec. 9.—

Determined to keep the West's inter-sectional football record intact for this season, the Golden Bears of California today were to have their first practice session in preparation for their contest with Georgia Tech on New Year's Day. Each Price said he expected to have 47 men in uniform this afternoon. Although he will take this large squad with him to Pasadena, Price undoubtedly will use his first string varsity lineup against the Southern team—a combination which is particularly stalwart on defense.

The team which will probably lineup against Georgia Tech follows:

Phillips and Avery, ends; Fitz and Bancroft, tackles; Gill and Schwarz, guards; Riegles, center; Barr and Lom, halfbacks; Schmidt, fullback; Eisan, quarterback.

TECH SQUAD LEAVES FOR COAST TOMORROW

ATLANTA, Ga., Dec. 19.—The mooted question as to when Georgia Tech's Golden Tornado will leave for California for their New Year's Day game with the Bears was settled by Coach Alexander yesterday when he announced the squad will depart tomorrow afternoon. The exact hour of the departure has not yet been decided.

No itinerary has been announced other than the "Sunset route." The team expect to arrive in Pasadena some time Sunday night, giving the squad seven days in which to practice before the game.

Real Estate After All Is the Safest, Surest Investment!

Ole Hanson, founder and builder of San Clemente, Painted by C. H. Austin Ayers

THE story of the stock ticker during the past week should convince anyone that the average man's only "out" to gain a competence is to buy well chosen realty up to the extent of his resources.

Southern California property is worth more today than it was last year, or the year before; it grows in value as the country grows. Why be silly and try to beat the hardened gamblers in the stock market when you see all around you folks LIVING on RENTS? Why try to beat the game by buying low interest bearing bonds when ANY BANKER WHO TELLS THE TRUTH (most of them do) will tell you that over a period of years it is very questionable if the interest will pile up fast enough so that the interest and principal added together over a period of years will buy more of needful things than the principal did in the beginning?

Buy a well chosen parcel of real estate in Southern California; buy it on the coast; buy it at San Clemente and let the upbuilding of our city create values and wealth for you.

At least call us up and our cars will call for you and you can spend a pleasant day with us, without expense.

$250 cash will start you on the way to independence and will make the first payment on a $1250 parcel of land where YOU ARE ALLOWED TO BUILD an apartment house if you desire. Think of it. Ask what the ground is worth where you live where apartment houses can be built.

See San Clemente.

We think it the most beautiful city on the coast.

WOULD BAN TIPS

SANTIAGO, Chile, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Hotel employees here are campaigning to do away with tips as being "prejudicial to their interests and bothersome to their clients."

They ask an addition of ten or fifteen per cent to the bill of each guest instead. With the additional money they expect to receive from the new system, the waiters, barbers, and porters say they will take lessons in English and French so that they may better serve foreign visitors to Santiago.

JOBLESS ARMY SEEKS REFUGE DURING WINTER

By ED JOHNSON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Special to The Register)

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 18.—(UP)—Winter has sent her chilly blasts through the Sacramento valley and reconnoitered the usual army of winter tourists.

Lower J and K streets are crowded with them. Every third man in some sections "Ain't had a bite to eat since yesterday morning, friend." The hobo army is here for the winter.

The state department of industrial relations has received reports from all sections of California indicating that Santa Ana and other cities also are receiving their quota of light baggage visitors. The situation in Sacramento is typical.

For the most part the "soldiers" have spent the summer and autumn in the fruit, grain and cotton districts. A majority of them had ample winter grubstake when they hit town, but the bright lights and the river front places of amusement soon put an end to that.

Many restaurants and lodging houses in the lower section of town specialize in all-winter accommodations—payable in advance. Board and room for the next three months is obtainable for a flat rate of $50 to $60 payable in advance.

Scores of men avail themselves of these offers, but hundreds "intend" to, but Jake sez lets just take a couple more then I'll go with you."

For the first few days the army is in town, saloons and small "rooming houses" do a flourishing business. Then the ill-lighted drug stores come in for their share when dollar-a-pint moonshine becomes too high and "alky-rub" and canned heat become the vintage props.

The county jail already is taxed to capacity, although police judges give "floaters" orders to leave town, in preference to fines for vagrancy, panhandling and similar offenses.

"Penal missions" and other "sky-pilots" vie with vendors of Indian herb cure-alls. Within two blocks there often are as high as three street corner evangelists with their semi-circle of "saved" soldiers and a couple of medicine men with paid "starters" in the clustered spectators.

VALIANT FIRE CHIEF

URBANA, O., Dec. 18.—(UP)—D. M. Driver, Hicksville's fire chief, put out one fire without moving out of his tracks.

He was talking with friends when they noticed smoke and gave the alarm. The smoke was coming out of the chief's pocket, which had been set on fire by a lighted pipe.

PROTECTION FOR ABALONES SOUGHT

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 19.—(UP)—The propaganda program for the lowly abalone, which probably was started by the late George Sterling, San Francisco poet, has taken definite shape.

Sterling's famous drinking song which winds up the chorus with "But as for me, I'd rather be the lonesome abalone," has invoked much public sentiment from time to time.

Now comes Senator Fred Handy of Ukiah with a bill which he will present at the next legislature. Designed to protect the abalone, the bill will prevent fishermen from using diving apparatus in districts two and one-half and seven. Similar restrictions have been placed on districts 16, 17 and 19.

GERMAN FINDS TEMPLE RUINS IN HIMALAYAS

BERLIN, Dec. 19.—(UP)—After severe hardships and perilous Himalayan ascents, the German explorer, Dr. Emil Trinkler, has returned from his year-and-a-half travels in Central Asia. At a reception given in his honor in Bremen, Dr. Trinkler described the valuable findings which his expedition made in the fields of history, science and art.

The journey started from Cashmir at the foot of the Himalayas. During 13 months, the German explorers pushed their way across mountain-passes, all at an altitude of 17,000 feet or more. Using caravans, they traversed vast desert expanses.

The most important scientific findings were made in the Takla-Makan desert, where the Germans remained for four months, digging out ancient villages which had been buried during sandstorms. These excavations revealed temple ruins, valuable works of sculpture and amorettes, mostly characteristic of the era of Greek-Buddhist culture. This civilization arose between 2000 B. C. and 1000 A. D. and was swept into Central Asia from Northwestern India.

The Germans brought with them significant relics of the eighth century, notably manuscripts, textiles and paintings. During their geological researches, they ascertained that huge glaciers had descended upon and covered Central Asia in pre-historic ages.

Relics of the expedition will be presented to the Bremen municipal museum.

Dr. Trinkler, on his return, spoke highly of the assistance rendered him and his companions by the British authorities in India. He complained bitterly, however, regarding the attitude of Chinese officials, who he said, had placed many difficulties in the expedition's path and attempted to prevent removal of the relics. Dr. Trinkler said that the Chinese difficulties were surmounted only after the German legation in Peking had intervened.

ARMS OF VENUS TO BE SOUGHT BY PROFESSORS

PARIS, Dec. 19.—In the hope of finding the arms of the Venus de Milo, two Greek archaeologists, Professors George Gaetanos and Dragalis, will drag the port of the island of Milo. They believe they will find at the bottom the disputed arms, which have laid there since the day in 1820 when the French frigate Estafette made off with the statue, having taken it by force from the islanders.

In the scuffle the arms were broken off the statue, and fell into the water, the Greek professors believe. The forearm and hand holding an apple, which are in the Louvre on exhibition beside the Venus, are not part of the original statue, according to the Greeks. So this dispute over Venus' arms, which crops up every generation in France since Venus has been there, is on again.

To date the accepted version is that the portions of them brought along with the statue were only fragments.

SON MAKES GOWNS FOR HIS MOTHER

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Dec. 19.—(UP)—Years ago when Mrs. Margaret Huepper's five daughters were growing up she had visions that the day would come when they could help her with the sewing. But it was her youngest son, Jack, who turned out to be the family "seamstress."

Jack, now 28, makes all the dresses and coats for his mother, his two sisters who live at home, his three married sisters and two nieces. Besides he makes curtains, lamp shades, pillows and fancy bags.

Dressmaker Jack also does some outside work and numbers among his customers a number of society women.

"I love the work," he says. "It's my pastime. Other people have their hobbies. This is mine."

It takes Jack nine hours to make ordinary dresses and 15 for evening gowns. He does his work at night, as he is a cost accountant in the daytime.

INDIAN CHIEF TELLS STORY OF CREATION

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 19.—(UP)—Do you believe in the Biblical story of how the earth and its people were created? Tut-tut, says Jackrabbit, wrinkled chieftain of the tribe of Akwa'ala Indians of Lower California.

Hark, then, to Jackrabbit's version, as related to Dr. E. W. Gifford, curator of the University of California Museum of Anthropology, in a compilation on file in the state department of education.

"In the beginning there was nothing but water, and two men were swimming under it, searching for land. As one of them, Mitipa, reached the surface, land came up from the bottom of the sea. The other opened his eyes too soon, and was blinded by the salt water. He sank, and that's how blindness came into the world."

The rest of the story told by the aged Indian was as fascinating as it was unusual. Soon Mitipa got a lot of dolls, and they then became men and women. The story has been published in bulletin form by the university.

J. S. Smart New Vice President Of Commercial Bank

APPOINTMENT IS ADDITION TO PRESENT STAFF

At the unanimous request of the board of directors of the Commercial National bank, J. S. Smart has accepted the position of executive vice president of the institution.

Almost from the beginning Smart has been prominent in the affairs of the bank, first in its organization and later in its management. He is a director and member of the discount committee and has been in daily contact with the affairs of the bank.

He will bring to the institution the benefit of more than 50 years' successful experience in commercial life and undoubtedly will be a valuable addition to its staff of officers.

Smart came to Santa Ana 15 years ago to take over the management of the wholesale grocery house now known as the Smart and Final company. The year previous to his coming the sales of that company were $300,000. In 1928 the total will reach $900,000, which brings the concern into the front rank with the largest wholesale grocery houses in California and the nation.

Will Divide Time
He will retain his financial interest in the Smart and Final company, of which he is president, and will divide his time between the two institutions. He will be on duty in the bank during the banking hours, beginning the first of the year.

The addition of Smart to the official staff of the bank does not displace any of the present officers, the staff now standing as follows:

J. P. Baumgartner, president; J. S. Smart, executive vice president; S. H. Finley, vice president; E. Rockhill, cashier.

Commenting on the addition of Smart to the bank's official staff, President J. P. Baumgartner said:

"I have known Mr. Smart intimately ever since he came to Santa Ana and have found him to be a business man of exceptional ability and a citizen of the finest quality. I never have worked with a man in civic affairs who was more public spirited or energetic or efficient. While ever optimistic, Mr. Smart has a keenly analytical mind and a wide range of experience which enable him to get at the heart of the matters in hand with much more than average accuracy."

"He will bring to the service of the bank remarkably successful experience and training in credit work, in large financial management and in organization. He is distinctly a builder and the bank is fortunate, indeed, in securing his services."

S. A. Youth Named Head Of Trojan Club Of Religion

Melvin H. Harter, formerly of Santa Ana, recently was elected recording secretary of the School of Religion club at the University of Southern California.

The club meets once a month and is for the purpose of promoting acquaintance among students of the Trojan school of religion, of which Dr. John P. Fisher is dean.

Dr. Carl S. Knopf, widely known for his weekly radio talks on "Putting the Bible to Work," is a member of the school of religion faculty.

Harter, a junior this year, is a graduate of the Santa Ana high school, class of '26, and the Santa Ana junior college.

COURT USES AIRPLANE

The superior court of Pima county, Arizona, has successfully taken to the air to speed up justice. The court holds periodic sessions at Ajo, which is 130 miles from headquarters at Tucson, across desert and mountain wastes. Sometimes it took several days to make the trip. By plane, the court personnel leaves Tucson in the morning, holds court at Ajo, and returns to Tucson by dusk. Left to right, members of the flying tribunal are: Mrs. M. S. Brown, deputy clerk; Pat Higgins, probation officer; Superior Judge Gerald Jones and Louis R. Kemp, prosecuting attorney.

PATHETIC CIRCUMSTANCES OF NEEDY SHOWN IN LETTER TO ARMY ASKING CHRISTMAS AID

A contribution of $5 by A. H. Lyon today had increased the Salvation Army Christmas cheer fund, collected through The Register, to $70. The total is disappointing to Capt. Guy B. Van de Hoek, of the Salvation Army, for he had anticipated more generous financial support of his plan for making a happy Christmas for the 75 or 100 poor families he has obligated himself to supply with Christmas dinners.

Money dropped daily into the Salvation Army kettles on the streets is increasing the total of the Christmas cheer fund, but the captain pointed out today that if the average daily contributions through this source continued for the remaining days before Christmas the total of all contributions would not be what he had hoped for.

That real distress exists among some families in the city is further evidenced by the following letter, received by the captain from a worried mother:

Husband Without Work
"You will be surprised to hear from me as I have never asked for help before, and would not now, if it were not for my children. I have six children, the oldest 13, a girl, and the baby 9 months old. My husband has not had any work for over five months. He has been trying to make some toys to sell for Christmas but did not get started soon enough. He could not get the lumber and he hasn't them all made yet."

"We thought he would be able to sell them and then we could have a Christmas for the kiddies, but he has only sold four that he had finished and we had to use the money for food. Right now we have only 21 cents and we owe the grocery man, who let us have some things, but he said he could not credit any more because we do not own any property."

"Unless he can sell a toy or two this afternoon, I don't know where our supper will come from."

May Lose Furniture
"We bought our furniture at a Santa Ana furniture store on credit, when my husband had work, and we thought it was going to be steady work. We were to pay $20 a month and have it all paid for in a year. We have had it seven months now and have only paid about one-fourth of it and I am afraid they will come and take it away. So far they have been very nice. We have never been able to give them more than $10 a month and one time we gave them only $7."

"For myself I do not care, but the children are all small and they believe in Santa Claus and all they talk about is, 'How many more days before Santa Claus comes?'"

"I told them I was afraid he would not come this time, but they won't believe me. They say

SIX OBJECTS OF ROTARY TOPIC AT CLUB MEET

Discussion of six objects of Rotary by six past presidents of the Santa Ana Rotary club featured the meeting of the organization yesterday. The program was in charge of the educational committee, with W. H. Spurgeon officiating as program chairman.

Old members of the club, as well as men who recently have become identified with the organization, were electrified by the fine presentation, by the different speakers, of their interpretation of each of the six objects.

T. E. Stephenson was scheduled to discuss the first objective, "the ideal of service as the basis of all worthy enterprise," but the Christmas rush at the post office detained him at the luncheon hour and Spurgeon acted as pinch-hitter for the busy postmaster.

"High ethical standards in business and professions" was handled by E. S. Morrow, the speaker emphasized the more general application of the Golden Rule in business since institution of service clubs.

Fred Rowland discussed the third object, "the application of the ideal of service by every Rotarian to his personal business and community life" and Mae Robbins talked on "the development of acquaintance as an opportunity for service," the fourth object.

"The recognition of the worthiness of all useful occupations and the dignifying by each Rotarian of his occupation as an opportunity to serve society," listed as the fifth, was presented by Dr. M. A. Patton.

These last of the group, "The advancement of the understanding, good will and international peace through a world-fellowship of business and professional men united in the Rotary ideal of service," was given by W. C. Jerome.

Ed Yost, of the Yost Broadway theater, advised the club that he had made an error in announcing last week that he would "throw a party" for Rotarians in the theater on Christmas eve and invited the club members to be his guests tomorrow night. Families of the members are included in the invitation.

Harold Yost, also of the theater, is a member of the Lions club and members of that club and their families also have been invited to be guests of the management tomorrow night.

DAUGHTERS OF GOLDEN WEST 3 YEARS OLD

By MATILDA S. LEMON

Recording Secretary, N. D. G. W.

In September of 1925, Mrs. Bertha Hitt, of Long Beach, parlor No. 241, Native Daughters of the Golden West, and at that time a resident of Santa Ana, conceived the idea of organizing a parlor of Native Daughters in this city. Receiving her appointment as organizer, she made a canvass for members, her untiring efforts rewarding her with applications from several sections of Orange county as well as from natives of other counties but now residing here.

On October 19 of that same year, Mrs. Hitt was enabled to call together a body of 50 women to the first preliminary meeting, being ably assisted by the then district deputy grand president, Miss Marvel Thomas, of Los Angeles, and a corps of grand officers. By the third preliminary meeting, held November 6, 93 women reported and were elected to charter membership, this forming the nucleus of our order in Santa Ana. The Armistice day celebration in Anaheim then drawing near, our first public appearance as an order was made in that parade.

First Meet December 19

The initial official meeting was called on Dec. 19, 1925, when the worthy grand president and corps of grand officers from the grand parlor in San Francisco took charge of the institution and 100 members signed the charter as full-fledged Native Daughters of Santa Ana parlor No. 235.

Since then, the enrollment has reached 164, but has been reduced through removals and business engrossment and, at present, totals 115 members. We trust that all loyal Native Daughters, "seeing, will take heart again" and, in loyalty to their native state, affiliate with its emblem.

Though quite young, the order has accomplished considerable work, having contributed well to the Native Daughters' home, bought a tree in the Humboldt Memorial grove of big trees, aided in the reconstruction of the baptistry of the San Juan Capistrano mission, contributed its bit to the flood relief fund, aided the American Legion, War veterans, Tuberculosis camp, in addition to giving aid to and sewing for the Homeless Children of California in the home in Los Angeles. It has taken part in the Armistice day parades as well as in celebrating its own natal day on September 9.

Heading the parlor since its inception have been Madames Louise Mock, the first president; Mamie Schenberg, Mary Moore and the present head, Eunice S. Fox.

Committees Busy

KELLOGG TREATY FILLS GREAT NEED IN PEACE MOVEMENT, BURKE TELLS EXCHANGE CLUB

That the Kellogg peace treaty, now before the U. S. senate, fills a real gap in the existing legislation aimed at outlawing war and that it should be adhered to by the United States as a rallying point and standard for public opinion, which is the only real means of preventing war, was declared in an address by J. Frank Burke, yesterday, before the Santa Ana Exchange club, in Ketter's cafe.

"Public opinion finally ruling stock of the world." Sentiment against war has been growing for the last two decades," said Burke, adding that the greatest contribution of the Kellogg pact will be in giving this public sentiment a new and more effective means of making itself a factor in preventing war.

The speaker explained that his country has not joined the League of Nations and other protocols of similar nature as a result of the fact that the senate must finally approve treaties negotiated by its diplomats, whereas representatives of other nations can take final action in such matters. He pointed out that some of these agreements, ultimately refused by the senate, have been the suggestion of the United States, and declared that "If we do not act on the Kellogg pact we will be the laugh-

'LOLLYPOP BAY' WELL RECEIVED ON FIRST NIGHT

With tuneful numbers, a captivating chorus and a beautiful setting, the annual Frances Willard junior high school operetta, "The Ghost of Lollipop Bay," had its premiere, last night, in the high school auditorium.

Scenes for both acts of the Charles Wakefield Cadman operetta were laid in a girls' summer camp on the shores of Lollipop bay, and former Willard operettas are outdone in the splendid setting used.

Margaret Krebs, in the role of Dinah, the colored maid, proved to be the hit of the show last night. Her amusing antics in the role of a ghost "brought down the house."

Lois Courtney and Dorothy Heiny, as Molly and Midge, were outstanding characters, while Marion Hawk, as Mary, the leader of the girls' camp, was remarkably well cast.

Mario Mereuric, Lawrence Garrison and Tom Griffith, as Tom, Dick and Harry, the three chums from the boys' school, proved capable in their respective roles.

Ilard Runyon, as a colored cook, gathered in several laughs. Betty Paul, as Miss Jemimah Steel, principal of the girls' school, and Marvin Rohrs, as Prof. Alvin Flint, principal of the boys' school, were hits in the many instances when Flint met Steel.

The Ghost Dance, carried out against a black curtain background, was one of the outstanding features of the production. Both the girls' and boys' choruses were exceptionally well trained and their work was effective.

The entire production shows much work on the part of Miss Esther Jean Davis and Miss Dorthea K. Smith, directors of the operetta.

The accompanying musical numbers were played by Miss Olive Gilbert and Miss Betty Smedley.

For the overture and intermission numbers, the Willard school orchestra, under the direction of S. J. Mustel, assisted by members of the high school orchestra, played appropriate selections.

The operetta will be repeated in the high school auditorium tonight.

Benefit Card Party of Legion Auxiliary Success

Christmas day will be a happy one for many of the disabled veterans of the World war at the San Fernando hospital as a result of the efforts of members of the auxiliary of Santa Ana post, American Legion, who were hostesses last night at a card party at the Legion hall, proceeds from which are to be added to the fund for a Christmas party for disabled veterans at that hospital.

The Legion hall was gay with Christmas decorations and a large Christmas tree, sparkling with lights and tinsel, was the center of attraction. For at the foot of the tree were the many fascinating packages that were presented as prizes later in the evening.

Fifty tables had been arranged for the card players, some of whom played bridge while the remainder enjoyed five hundred. Attractive gifts were presented the holders of high and low scores in both games. Those winning in pivoting bridge were Mrs. R. W. Weston, Ralph Barker, Mrs. Emma Penn, R. H. Covert, Mrs. Grace Leinberger, and Henry Williams.

Progressive bridge winners included Mrs. Isabelle Getty, G. A. Thatcher, Mrs. McVicker Smith, R. H. Van Deusen, and O. O. Carmickle.

Prizes in five hundred went to Mrs. B. A. Brock, high, and Mrs. D. McGee, low.

Of great interest was the large cedar chest which was among the evening's special prizes. It was won by Miss Esther Boose. Other prizes included a floor lamp which went to Mrs. Eugene Robinson, a water carafe won by B. C. Selvers, salt and pepper shakers won by Roy Bailey of La Mesa, a flower dish won by Miss Ella Pickard, basket of candied fruit, won by Mrs. Joe Warner, bed lamp that went to G. C. Pultz, cigarettes won by Mrs. Roy Bailey of La Mesa, candy won by Mrs. H. W. Smith, and fruit cake won by Miss Elizabeth Shugart.

A chiming clock and silver candle sticks were auctioned and they were won by Jess Goodman and Z. B. West Jr.

At midnight refreshments, carrying out the Christmas motif, were served by the hostess committee which included Mrs. Morris Cain, Mrs. Franklin West, Mrs. Charles Nussbaumer, Mrs. Harold Nelson, Mrs. Claude Sleeper, Mrs. Clyde Jenken, Mrs. Z. B. West Jr., Mrs. Dean Collier, and Mrs. S. C. Hill.

Hermosa Chapter Holds First Meeting of Year

Hermosa chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, began its new chapter year most auspiciously on Monday night, with the recently installed corps of officers functioning for the first time, under the leadership of Mrs. Irene Mitchell, worthy matron, and Alvin Nowotney, worthy patron. This initial event was the annual Christmas party, and the Masonic temple was festive with its decorations of fir boughs, cotoneaster and scarlet poinsettias.

Against the background, the new officers, gowned in white, made a most attractive appearance, and performed their duties as faultlessly as seasoned veterans during the business session preceding the party. It was during this interval that Mrs. Jeanette Tarpley and Roy V. Shafer, junior past matron and patron, were escorted to seats of honor, as were Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wright, newly installed patron and matron of Santa Ana chapter. A large number of past matrons and patrons of "Hermosa's Own," together with many from other states, were presented for introduction, as was W. O. Patterson, recently installed as master of Jubilee lodge, F. and A. M.

Mrs. Pearl Livesey, one of the officers for 1929, had charge of the musical entertainment, and introduced the quartet composed of Messrs. Alex Garroway, Fred Wilde, Walter Vieira and Hugh Rannels, with Miss Ruth Armstrong as accompanist. One of the most impressive numbers was an arrangement of "Silent Night" with Mrs. Livesey singing the obligation.

Mrs. Marie Beisel, associate matron, gave an interesting account of the origin of Christmas celebrations, as gleaned from the legends of many lands. Announcement was then made that a brilliant tree with Santa Claus himself to arrange for the distribution of gifts, awaited in the banquet room. The genial Saint, in a voice suspiciously like W. V. Whitson, a past patron, confessed that he had been listening to the program, and was too much under its spell to feel as hilarious as his reputation demanded. However he was all that heart could wish as were the gifts he handed out with the aid of Mrs. Amber Burke and her committee, who gave a popcorn ball and a stocking of candy to each one present.

Mrs. Mitchell had exemplified the Christmas spirit by remembering the Eastern Star home in Pasadena, and the many members there who find themselves with no loved ones at Christmas, and included them in the holiday cheer. Jars and glasses of jams and jellies, all wrapped in Christmas colors, were collected and will be taken to the home very soon, by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. Nowotney, who will thus bear the greetings of the chapter.

To conclude the happy evening, Mrs. Livesey and Mrs. Clay Williams sang "A Christmas Song," with Miss Mayme Havens at the organ.

Wrycende Maegden Club Enjoys Yule Party

Members of the Wrycende Maegden club of the Y. W. C. A. held their annual Christmas party at the Y. W. C. A. rooms on West Fifth street last night.

Following the delicious dinner which was served at small tables which had been decorated in the gay greens and reds of the yuletide by Miss Vena Belle Bryant and her sister, Miss Louise Bryant, a Christmas program was presented.

Miss Nancy Elder, Y. W. C. A. secretary, sang several solos with Mrs. Moxley accompanying at the piano. Christmas readings were given by Miss Mabel Pruitt and the singing of carols was led by Miss Eva Turton.

A gift exchange completed the evening's festivities.

Piano Recital Is Enjoyed By Many

One afternoon late last week Vivian Smith Harmon presented a pupil recital at her home at 512 West Camille street.

Mrs. Harmon was assisted by Miss Audria Fey, well known whistler, who is a pupil of Miss Woodward, head of the Whistling school in Los Angeles. Miss Fey gave two numbers. She was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Jack Snow.

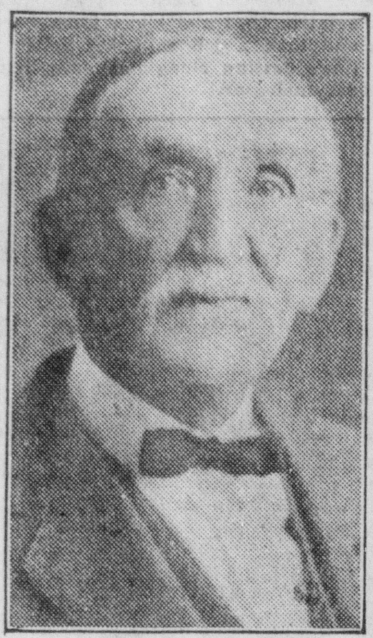

After the recital Mrs. Harmon served refreshments and at this time she asked Mrs. Ernest Reuter to play. Mrs. Reuter played two Chopin Preludes and a Pascal number.

Another recital will be given in January.

Pupils presented at the recital last week were Marshall Squier, Stanley Goode, Mary Druce, Betty Goode, Martha Dowling, Hazel Cartwright, Alice Compton.

WED SIXTY YEARS AGO

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Klatt of 201 East Washington avenue celebrated their sixtieth wedding anniversary Monday when their nine sons and daughters gathered at their home for a reunion and dinner party. Mr. and Mrs. Klatt came to Santa Ana 11 years ago from Lincoln, Illinois, where they had lived since their marriage in St. Louis, Missouri, in 1868.

If your supply of Christmas fruit-cake should run low, here is a recipe for a quickly made, inexpensive cake which can be eaten the day it is made.

COTTAGE FRUIT CAKE
1 cup vegetable shortening
2 eggs, well beaten
1 1/2 cups sifted pastry flour
1 cup raisins or a cup of raisins and citron mixed
1/2 cup broken nut meats
1/2 cup dark molasses
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon each salt and soda
1/2 teaspoon each cloves, nutmeg and cinnamon
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Blend the sugar, molasses and shortening smoothly. Add the beaten eggs. Sift the flour with the soda, salt and spices, mix smoothly with the sugar mixture, then add the fruit dredged with flour and the broken nut meats and flavoring.

Bake in a loaf pan for 2 hours with heat set for 275 degrees—that means slow oven. Use with or without icing. I will give a quick and easy way to make icing for this cake tomorrow.

TODAY'S RECIPE
Steamed Turkey Mould
2 cups finely chopped turkey (or any other kind of meat)
4 egg whites, beaten stiff
1/2 green pepper
1 teaspoon minced onion
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1 cup toasted breadcrumbs
1 cup top milk
1 canned pimiento
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 hard cooked egg

Let the breadcrumbs soak in the milk while you are beating the egg whites stiff. Shred the pepper and pimiento very fine, add to the minced turkey and combine with the soaked crumbs.

Put in the salt and grated onion and mix lightly, fold in the egg whites and put the mixture into a covered buttered mould. Slices of hard cooked egg decorate the bottom of the mould. Steam for 1 hour and serve with—

CUCUMBER SAUCE
1 large cucumber, dried
1 teaspoon shredded green pepper
1/2 teaspoon salt
Paprika
1 cup whipped cream
After drying the cucumber, let it drain. Beat the cream stiff, add the seasonings and set it on ice. Fold in the cucumber just before serving.

When the mould is served invert on a large chop plate and garnish the plate with a heated can of asparagus tips and sections of ripe tomato. Parsley to fill in the spaces and for looks.

Ham, veal, tongue or rabbit all lend themselves to this way of cooking left-overs. With a Ham Mould I would suggest a hot mustard sauce.

The Turkey Mould and Sauce will serve six people quite generously. The calories total 2355 and they are quite husky ones; turkey and cream are quite liable to add a pound or two to anyone.

An apple a day will keep the doctor away because apples have lots of alkaline salts in their makeup.

Books of Interest at Christmas Are Reviewed

Such books and such authors are of special interest to the public mind at present, were discussed in happy fashion yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Robert Northcross, who gave the benefit of her wide reading and clear judgment, to members of Ebell's Book Review section, entertained in the home of Mrs. Terry Stephenson, 1522 North Broadway.

Such historical works as "Elizabeth and Essex," characterized as warm with vitality, "Mother of Kings," with its keen analysis of reason for the genius of famous sons, the new two-volume "Life of Fremont" and Drinkwater's "A Pilgrim of Eternity," were presented first by Mrs. Northcross. The latest Drinkwater book, she declared to be a completely unbiased presentation of the life of Lord Byron, with everything in it substantiated by documentary evidence.

Books on present day life cited for their interest, included "The Great American Band Wagon," "America Comes of Age," she found especially valuable because of its author, Siegfried, (a Frenchman with German name,) who judges our country and ourselves with the calm, sane judgment of one looking on from the outside. His message, she found one of decided encouragement.

"Exploring Your Mind," by Albert Edward Wigham, showed its author's interest in psychological tests among children. "Bambi," was presented in a most interesting manner, after which Mrs. Northcross turned her attention to current fiction.

Susan Glaspell's "Brook Evans," a study in heredity, she found strong, but asked why such studies should always deal with baser side of life. She compared the book with the strength and beauty of Arnold Bennett's "Old Wives' Tale." Walpole's "Winter's Moon" was given as further evidence of that writer's ability to write delightfully of genteel folk, Galsworthy's "Swan Song." Mrs. Northcross found quite as interesting as its predecessors in that great history of a "Man of Property" with its pictures of English middle class life.

At the afternoon's close, Mrs. Stephenson asked her co-hostesses, Mrs. John A. Tessmann, and Mrs. Northcross, to preside at the beautifully arranged tea table, where the Christmas spirit was pronounced both in appointments and the tea menu.

YOU and your Friends

S. McElroy, a retired business man of Mason City, Iowa, who has been visiting his cousins, Mrs. E. M. Wilson, 120 South Sycamore street, Mrs. Jessica Cartwright, 631 North Ross street, and Mrs. J. M. Long, west of Santa Ana, left this morning for Santa Ana, but will return later for a more extended stay in Santa Ana.

Drs. Roy Horton and Donald Waters, were in Los Angeles today to attend a lecture by a noted eastern optometrist.

Mrs. Anna Johnson, of 1015 South Cypress street and Mrs. J. M. Long, of 910 South Main street, received word today of the death of their sister Mrs. Minnie MacIntire, of Quincy, Ill.

Mrs. John A. Harvey of North Broadway has received word that her aunt, Mrs. Bell Cordell of Ashland, Oregon, passed away on December 16. Mrs. Cordell has many friends in Santa Ana where she has lived a number of times.

Miss Alice Olive Forey, a student at University of California at Los Angeles, has arrived to spend the holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Forey, 213 South Sycamore street.

Christmas Stories Are Told at Meeting of Woman's Club

Two beautiful Christmas stories were told at yesterday afternoon's meeting of the Santa Ana Woman's club which took place at the Church of the Messiah. The first was "The Tree of Life" by Keene Abbott, told in charming fashion by Miss Octavia Goldsworthy.

The second story was the legend of the Madonna of the Chair by Mrs. C. C. Oakes. Mrs. Oakes told of the manner in which that master painter, Rafael, had come to paint the Madonna of the Chair upon the top of a wine keg.

In order to see that others have as joyous a Yuletide as members of the club are planning for their own homes, the members brought many toys and money that is to be distributed at the homes of crippled children in this county by the Crippled Children's Relief association of Orange county on Christmas day.

Another pleasing feature of yesterday's program was the roll call when each member present responded with the tale of an amusing Christmas experience.

Two violin solos, "Adoration" by Felix Dorowski and "Canzonetta" by Ambrosio, were given by Miss Peggy Warburton of the Santa Ana high school. Miss Warburton was accompanied at the piano by her mother, Mrs. C. Warburton.

Plans for a dinner at St. Ann's Inn on February 5 to celebrate the twenty-ninth anniversary of the founding of the club, were discussed at the short business meeting which preceded the afternoon's program.

The exchange of gifts was a happy event of the social hour that followed when the hostesses, Miss Goldsworthy, Mrs. Oakes, Mrs. Helen Kellogg, and Mrs. I. D. Annis, served refreshments.

Current Events Section Enjoys Dinner Bridge At Orient Cafe

A Christmas tree, cotoneasters, poinsettias, and other proof that Christmas is almost here were in evidence last night at the Orient cafe where members of the Current Events section of the Ebell society and their husbands held their annual Christmas party.

Hostesses included Mrs. R. E. Langley, Mrs. Clyde Jenken, Mrs. George Duncan and Mrs. Claudine Irvine.

Following the delicious dinner the merry group enjoyed dancing while card tables were being arranged for an evening of bridge.

When bridge scores were added at a late hour it was found that Mrs. Harvey Bennett, Mrs. George Holmes, Walter Hickey, and Nick Brock were the possessors of the highest scores and each of them was presented with a pretty gift.

A jolly half hour followed when gifts for everyone present were exchanged.

Guests present at the dinner were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Claytor and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Bressler, while members and their husbands who were present included Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Bennett, Mr. and Mrs. George Osterman, Mr. and Mrs. Nick Brock, Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Hewitt, Mr. and Mrs. John Estes Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doty, Mr. and Mrs. George Holmes, Mr. and Mrs. W. Santa Ana Friends Are Interested In News Of Wedding

The many Santa Ana friends of Miss Edna Beatty of San Francisco are interested in the news of her approaching wedding which will take place Saturday in New Orleans where she will marry John Davis Bartlow of that city.

Miss Beatty is the daughter of Mrs. John Beatty of San Francisco formerly of Santa Ana. She is a graduate of the Santa Ana high school from where she went to Pomona and then to the University of California.

Miss Beatty's father, the late John Beatty, was a prominent merchant here.

Mr. Bartlow was an exchange professor, coming to San Francisco last year to teach in a high school there and it was at that time that he met Miss Beatty.

The two plan to make their home in New Orleans.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Ebell Garden section will not meet tomorrow morning as was previously announced.

Past Noble Grands of the Torosa Robekah lodge will hold a Christmas luncheon Thursday, 12 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. J. S. Pankey, 815 North Broadway.

Richland Avenue Methodist Episcopal Sunday school will present a pageant at the Sunday night services under the direction of Mrs. Hazel Vela.

CHURCH WOMEN SOCIETY THE HOME WEDDINGS FRATERNAL FASHIONS HOUSEHOLD

The WOMAN'S DAY by ALLENE SUMNER

Divorce on the ground of "malicious desertion" and "for scriptural cause" was considered by the United Lutheran Church of America in biennial convention. Heretofore, divorce for adultery only has been recognized, and ministers would marry only the innocent party to the divorce.

Even consideration of the loosening iron-clad convictions on the subject of divorce by one of our great church bodies is more than significant. It indicates a growing belief that marriage with dissatisfaction and unhappiness is infinitely more poisonous than the dissolution of such marriages.

London has averaged about 4000 fewer babies every year since 1921 and the experts on vital statistics say that by the next census children under 15 will compose only about 20 per cent of the population, instead of the 30 per cent which has been normal for previous censuses.

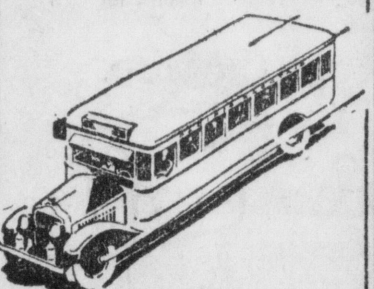

But what of it? All this alarm about fewer babies is balanced by the thankfulness of those who know that this modern world simply could not continue to feed the baby crop as it was coming along before various post-war conditions halted it.

We did not need to wait for Henry Judd Gray's autobiography which was published just a few days ago to know what he reveals in the book—that is spite of everything he still "loved" and was fascinated by Ruth Snyder to the very last. Many might deny the word "love" is the accurate one. But by whatever name the emotion between the guilty two should be called, few could doubt that, strong enough to perform the crime it did, it would be strong enough to remain even through death.

Neurologists are saying that their big job is to free men and women from just such emotions against which they are powerless to cope without scientific aid!

Even queens can't get away with slighting. This is revealed in the much-discussed new book, "Meet General Grant," by W. E. Woodward. The author relates the time Queen Victoria invited the General and Mrs. Grant to dinner at Windsor Castle. Jesse, their son, was not invited. Grant's aide finally tactfully procured an invitation for Jesse, but, when the guests sat down to table, Jesse found his place in a room with the Queen's household and not at the queen's table. Jesse was very angry and prepared to leave. Word of the young man's discomfiture, reached the Queen, and she commanded another plate to be put upon her own table.

When all the candy canes were done, Old Santa came in on the run. He gazed upon the little canes and said, "Well say, that's great. You've done this work up very neat, and my, those candy canes look sweet. Why don't you Tinties try one? Go ahead, and I will wait."

Of course this pleased the Tinties much. Said Chowny, "We have never had such good luck as this. I think I'll take the biggest one of all." "Oh, you are piggyish," Scouty cried. And then a cane each Tinty tried. "Be careful," shouted Santa. "Don't let all those nice canes fall!"

He waited then, for just a while and then exclaimed, with friendly smile, "To eat those canes I guess it's going to take you rather long. So, while you're eating we'd best go down to a shop where I will show you other work that you can do, if you all still feel strong."

One Tinty shouted, "Sure we do! We want to keep on helping you. It makes us glad to work upon nice things for girls and boys." So Santa led them to a place that brought a smile to each one's face. "Oh, look!" cried Coppy. "This room's full of funny acting toys." "You bet," said Santa. "All these things wind up real tight, and work on springs. I want you Tinties to see if they are all right. If you work fast, I have no fear that you can shortly finish here. And then we'll have some food, and get a real good sleep tonight."

The Tinties then looked around and seized the first toys that they found. "Course Chowny grabbed a jumping jack. He liked to see it jump. The others tried out this and that. Then Coppy spied a kitty cat, that hopped along and always landed with an awful thump.

(The Tinties see some very pretty things in the next story.)

Your Ailments Are Caused by Chronic Constipation

Constipation poisons the blood, lowers its reparative powers, breaks down the kidneys and brings on a parade of diseases ranging from common colds to tuberculosis and cancer.

Constipation is the result of a faulty colon and is not always indicated by difficult bowel movement or distress. Most people do not even know they are constipated. Laxatives, diets, massage, medicines, enemas, etc., cannot cure constipation because they do not correct the condition of the colon (large intestine).

If You Want to Be Permanently Well Your Colon Must Be Repaired

We possess the master treatment for correcting constipation; it is our own origination, the very best, and our offices are thoroughly equipped for colon therapy. We are experts in this distinctive, original, different and most efficient treatment method because we do nothing else but treat colon disorders and diseases resulting therefrom. "OUTCAST" ROLE IS FAVORITE

Corinne Griffith, noted film star, likes parts that show development of character, she declares in interview.

Appears to Great Advantage in Role of Miriam in "The Outcast"

Never has Corinne Griffith appeared to greater advantage than in the role of Miriam, a girl of easy virtue but with a heart of gold and a soul above her sordid surroundings, who not only rises to great heights herself, but also uplifts the man she loves in "Outcast," her second First National starring picture under her new contract with that organization. This widely-heralded picture, directed by William A. Seiter, will be first shown in our city at the Broadway theater on Christmas day.

WEST COAST WALKER

Erich von Stroheim has returned to the screen!

And he has done it in a fashion which increases the interest in what is undoubtedly one of the most fascinating personalities of filmdom.

In "The Wedding March," which opened an engagement yesterday at the Walker theater, Von Stroheim heads a remarkable cast of screen favorites in a production which he also directed, and which presents a moving story of Vienna in the days before the World War.

There is much that is spectacular in "The Wedding March"—much that charms the eye with a display of regal magnificence or beauty of an almost ethereal quality,—but there is also a great deal that affects the spectator solely through the medium of superior acting.

YOST BROADWAY

A more apt and fitting nickname could not be devised for Marian Nixon by her friends than her present one of "Nixie." To those who know the petite screen player, soon to appear in "Jazz Mad," the Universal picture that opens at the Yost Broadway theater tonight, it is a nickname that is peculiarly suitable to her.

Miss Nixon's many charming accomplishments are partly the result of her long training as a dancer. For several years following graduation from the schools of Minneapolis, she studied the art of terpsichore with her mind set upon a stage career.

The ambitious girl soon landed a contract with a vaudeville circuit. Before long, she became known as a toe, ballet, eccentric and ballroom dancer of much ability.

Marian was satisfied. She has achieved, while still in her teens, great fame, although very little fortune. What more could one expect out of life?

The satisfied feeling lasted for only a short time, though. The vaudeville tour ended in San Francisco and Miss Nixon exchanged her return ticket to New York for a ticket to Los Angeles. Once in the environs of Hollywood, ambition returned to her with the long vistas of success that the screen colony opens to those who enter its gates.

WEST END THEATRE

NOW PLAYING

COLLEEN MOORE

In "OH KAY"

Also Lupino Lane in "Nectie Days"

WEST END

"Oh Kay!" is O. K.!

Mirth that fairly shook the West End theater at the showing of this latest Colleen Moore picture last night provided ample evidence that "Oh Kay!" is one of the funniest comedies to reach the screen in months, and after watching six reels of hilarious humor, the audience went home still chuckling.

"Oh Kay!" is frankly a farce, having been adapted for motion picture purposes from the musical comedy of the same name. It has been made all the more laughable in the transition, and the presence of Colleen's part personality in the stellar role is responsible for the majority of the humor. Although Colleen has probably had more successful comedies than any other feminine star, "Oh Kay!" has topped them all, and takes its place with the best humor the screen has produced.

ALOES IN BLOOM
ORANGE, Dec. 19.—The two big clumps of bitter aloes in the park at the Santa Fe depot are coming into full bloom. These plants are of unusual size and are said to be about 35 years old. According to E. J. Risley, gardener of the Santa Fe, they were set out by C. J. Farrow, now of Santa Ana, who set out the other trees in the park.

Parents Are Play Guests In Anaheim

ANAHEIM, Dec. 19.—Parents of pupils of the Fremont school were guests of the children and their teachers at a program presented yesterday in the school auditorium. Parties were given for mothers and fathers in the individual classrooms following the program.

The play, "The First Noel," was under the direction of Miss Gredis and Miss Barnes, with Miss Williams in charge of the chorus. Pupils from the seventh grades had parts in the play.

They were Glen Shoemaker, Benny Macarary, Hazel Mosier, Philip Hammond, Coalsen Morris, Marian Blewitt, Evelyn Mosberger, Haruke Shigekawa, Akira Watanaabe, Howard Brown, Wilmer Chapman, Clyde Harris, Richard Hopkins, Gordon Milldrom, Homer Davis, Howard Sandon, Gilbert Fransen, Ray Bartleman, John Blewitt and Arle Bentson.

LAGUNA BEACH C. OF C. SEEKS NEW MEMBERS

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 19.—Plans which are expected to bring into the chamber of commerce enough new members to restore to that body some of the strength and power that it possessed several years ago were discussed at the recent meeting of the board, and a committee headed by J. J. Power was instructed to work out plans for a membership drive.

The chamber of commerce was at one time the chief local governing body, including within its range of activities many which have since been taken over by the city council, the realty board and the Merchants' association.

Internal dissension caused a number to withdraw, some of these having been active in the body. Lately there has been no friction within the chamber of commerce and none between it and other bodies. Now the directors seek to dispel the feeling of apathy, and a committee to show what the chamber can do and has done, and the benefit it can be to the community, has been appointed by Frank W. Cuprien, vice president of the body in the absence of H. H. Henshaw.

An effort was made several months ago by members of the Merchants' association to bring members of the latter again into the older body. A committee asked that the chamber of commerce make certain changes in its by-laws which would permit more democracy and give lay members more right of voice and vote. An amendment was made which it was asserted would provide this desired change. It is expected that the membership committee will make an effort to bring merchants into the chamber of commerce. Only a comparatively few of the merchants are members.

MURPHINE, HAMMER AT STAGE HEARING

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 19.—Thomas F. Murphine, mayor of San Clemente and Capt. H. H. Hammer, executive secretary of the chamber of commerce and chairman of the transportation committee of the Orange County Coast association, attended the meeting of the railroad commission in Los Angeles today.

The Pickwick company is seeking the right to operate a motor bus line from Long Beach to San Diego via Laguna and San Clemente. At the present the only way San Clemente residents can reach Long Beach on a Pickwick line is to go to Santa Ana, transfer and then reach their destination. The new route would save about an hour's time and cut eight miles from the present distance.

Plant In Anaheim Loses Near Beer

ANAHEIM, Dec. 19.—A report at the city police department yesterday from the Consolidated Ice company was to the effect that its building on West Broadway had been broken into and five and a half cases of near beer stolen. Entrance to the building was gained by tearing off a screen and breaking a window.

EDUCATION IN MEXICO TOPIC OF S. A. PASTOR

LAGUNA BEACH, Dec. 19.—Lions and their guests heard the Rev. P. F. Schrock, of Santa Ana, recently returned from Mexico, tell of conditions in the southern country, when they met Monday evening at the Tea and Tiffin cafe.

The Rev. Mr. Schrock went into the matter of schooling and told of the difficulties which the southern republic encounters in its efforts to establish general education. More than 60 per cent of the children do not attend school and, though the law makes attendance compulsory, this law is not enforced. If it were, the Rev. Mr. Schrock stated, there would be no facilities for the pupils.

The rural districts are particularly deficient in schools, he said. The need of an education is not greatly appreciated, he said, and the dire poverty of the country makes it necessary for the parents to keep the children out of school. Whatever funds are available for educational work are directed more toward hiring teachers than to erecting school buildings. Missionary organizations are training teachers to carry on the work.

The backwardness of Mexico agriculturally was told by the speaker. He credited the country with having men of high principles and ability and forecast success in the effort to overcome the handicaps of the country. He attributed some of the lack of progress to the fact that much of the wealth of the country has been lavished on churches rather than on benefitting the country as a whole.

Mrs. J. A. Chilton sang, "Tail Twister Ed S. Cause collected $5 in fines for the community Christmas tree. Other visitors present were the Rev. R. I. Brahams, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Chilton, Mrs. George E. Thompson and C. Addison Van Loenen.

WORK STARTED TODAY ON NEW BOAT BUILDING

NEWPORT BEACH, Dec. 19.—Work has started on the first unit of the boat plant of Bruce Crandall and Son. The structure, which will be one story high, will be finished in stucco. It will provide storage space for the Crandall boats shipped recently to California.

Albert Spencer, local contractor, is in charge of the building operations. The new boat house is located near the bridge entering Newport Beach at the intersection of the Coast highway and Central avenue.

Crandall has several plants in the east. He recently came to Pasadena to spend the winter and decided to locate a plant on the Pacific coast, selecting Newport bay as his headquarters.

Flu-Grip Checked at the start
RUB your chest with Vicks before your little cold gets BIG.
Vicks acts two ways at once to check the cold and prevent complications:
(1) It is vaporized by the heat of the body and inhaled for hours direct to the inflamed air passages;
(2) It acts through the skin like an old-fashioned poultice, "drawing out" the tightness and pain.

Seal Beach Arranges For Cantata

SEAL BEACH, Dec. 19.—A Christmas cantata will be given at the Community church Sunday evening under the direction of Mrs. Carrie Lou Sutherland, with Miss Lucile Wooding as pianist.

The program includes a tableau. Those taking part are Mrs. Carl Wheat, Betty Ruth Wheat, James Wheat, the Pioneer boys and Bernard Greer, Walter Shupe and Irvin Glenn.

Solo and duet numbers will be rendered by Mr. and Mrs. W. Ward, Miss Shasta Winterstein, Mrs. Carrie Lou Sutherland and Miss Geraldine Slayton. The chorus includes Shasta Winterstein, Aileen Iverson, Florence Bourgeois and Doris Reed, soprano and Dorothy Harding, Mrs. Minnie L. Mosley and Geraldine Slayton, altos.

KIWANIS CLUB GETS CHARTER ON JANUARY 29

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 19.—Hal Warner, trustee, has announced that January 19 will be San Clemente Kiwanis club charter night and arrangements have been made for a dinner dance. Warner states that dancers, singers and an orchestra will be brought from Los Angeles to furnish entertainment for the evening. The celebration will open with a dinner at Travellers' Cafe San Clemente.

State officers will be present. Dr. Garnet B. Grant, president of the San Clemente Kiwanis club, will be presented with the charter. Dr. H. E. Baird, secretary, is sending out invitations to all Southern California Kiwanis clubs to be present at the San Clemente Kiwanis club fete. Hal Warner conferred today in Santa Ana with Kiwanis officials regarding the celebration here in January.

TALBERT CHURCH IN YULE PROGRAM PLAN

TALBERT, Dec. 19.—The Christmas program of the Talbert Sunday school of the Methodist church is to be held next Sunday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The program, which is being given under the supervision of Mrs. Anna Helm, superintendent of the Sunday school, is composed of vocal selections, music and recitations and there will be a Christmas talk by the pastor, the Rev. L. S. Jones.

In the evening the preaching service will be omitted and the young people of the church will put on a musical program.

The Christmas program of the Greenville Sunday school will be given at the same hour as the local Sunday school program, 10:30 a.m.

Buena Park Home Damaged By Fire

BUENA PARK, Dec. 19.—An early morning fire partially destroyed the roof of the five-room house of L. M. Guyon on Emery street east of Grand avenue. The blaze was discovered at 4:15 a. m. Quick work on the part of the fire department saved the home.

Police Chief Named Santa Claus' Guide

SAN CLEMENTE, Dec. 19.—When Santa Claus arrives at the northern entrance of the town on Christmas eve, traffic will be halted by Chief of Police Forest J. Eaton while Santa Claus travels El Camino Real to Avenida Del Mar, where he will alight at the community tree. There he will distribute gifts to the 142 children of the Spanish village. Immediately after his duty is finished he will leave the town and traffic will be resumed.

Hal Warner announces that all in readiness for Santa's visit. Ted Hanson will bring the Christmas tree to the village. He will be greeted by Dr. Garnet B. Grant and Dr. H. E. Baird of the Kiwanis club, who will assist him in presenting gifts.

Improvement Of Tustin Streets Before Council

TUSTIN, Dec. 19.—A program for street improvements was discussed at the meeting of the Tustin city council last night.

A decision was reached to resurface "A," "B" and "C" streets with oil and gravel. This work will be commenced in the near future. The improvement of the garbage collection service was discussed. The garbage is now collected twice weekly. More collection days will be established if a survey of the situation reveals the necessity for them, it was declared.

COAT STOLEN

ANAHEIM, Dec. 19.—The theft of a coat was reported at police headquarters yesterday. The coat valued at $95, was taken from the Mary Millerick shop.

FINE RANCHER $35 FOLLOWING TRIAL BY JURY

PLACENTIA, Dec. 19.—Louis Jacobson, well known Placentia rancher and trustee of the Placentia-Richfield school district, was defendant in a jury trial which was held before Police Judge Thomas Pickrell yesterday afternoon.

Jacobson was charged with speeding. Albert H. Launer, city attorney for Placentia, charged the defendant with driving in the 20 and 15-mile zones on Bradford avenue at a speed in excess of 45 miles per hour. Witnesses for the city were Frank Cagle, deputy marshal and Jess Buckles, marshal, who followed Jacobson down Bradford avenue.

T. L. McFadden, attorney for the defense, declared that either the officers must have gone 90 miles an hour to catch up with Jacobson, or that the latter was only going 22 1-2 miles an hour if the officers were going 45 as stated.

A verdict of "guilty" was returned by the jury and Jacobson was fined $35 by Judge Pickrell. Jacobson's attorney stated that the case might be appealed to a higher court.

This is the second jury trial to be held in Placentia and attracted considerable interest.

DIRECTORS OF C. OF C. NAMED IN BUENA PARK

BUENA PARK, Dec. 19.—Directors of the chamber of commerce were named at the annual business session of the organization last night. The election of the directors was the only item of business taken up. The 10 men named to govern the activities of the chamber during the coming year will meet within the next 10 days to select a president, vice president and treasurer.

William Gunby, president of the chamber, was renamed a director. Others named to the directorate were Henry Schmidt, C. L. Macomber, John H. Page, Jack Golden, Oscar West, Robert Walamont, Herbert Bixby, John Johnson and Charles Marliarity.

OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

SEAL BEACH, Dec. 19.—Harry Harding Jr. celebrated his first birthday anniversary Monday and a party was held in his honor with LeDoris Knighton, Betty Ruth Wheat, Edna Wheat, Eldridge Koblenik and Maxine Harding as guests.

Sunday School In Orange Arranges Program Friday

ORANGE, Dec. 19.—Pupils of the First Christian church Sunday school will enjoy a Christmas tree, a program and a visit from Santa Claus at the church on Friday evening. The program is in charge of Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Ditchie.

On Sunday evening a Christmas cantata will be presented. Mrs. A. C. Epley is in charge of the cantata.

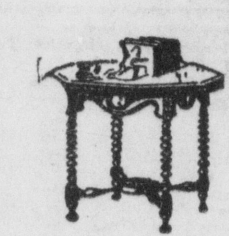

ORANGE BOARD SPECIAL MEET LACKS QUORUM

ORANGE, Dec. 19.—The special meeting scheduled for yesterday afternoon was adjourned to the regular meeting date January 2 by City Clerk Paul G. Clark owing to lack of a quorum. Only two councilmen were present, V. A. Wood and G. W. Shoemaker.

The councilmen and City Engineer C. C. Bonebrake discussed a number of questions slated to come before the board. Bonebrake reported that W. A. West, of Garden Grove, had signified his willingness to donate to the city of Orange a small triangular piece of land in front of the oil station owned by him at the intersection of Chapman avenue and Main street to permit widening this corner.

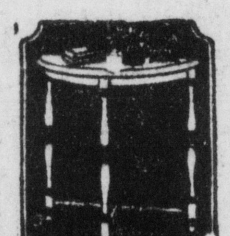

The city engineer said that the cost of moving the buildings back would be about $250 or $300. The suggestion of securing this improvement was made by State Highway Engineer S. V. Corteyou at a recent meeting of the council as a proposed improvement in conjunction with the widening of the state highway in the spring.

Among Our DX Fans

ANDREW W. WILSON,
530 South Birch Street,
Santa Ana,
is a DX Fan and
A hot one, too.
We gather from his letter.
Wilson submitted his log the Morning after The Night before December 13.
And comments that "The 13th wasn't So unlucky!"
Here are the Results of One hour's DXing!

KTAB, KGO, KLX and KFWB, Oakland; WMAQ, WGN, WBBM and WLS, Chicago; KGW, KOIN and KEX, Portland; KFRC, KPO and KYA, San Francisco; KHQ and KGA, Spokane; KJL and KOYL, Salt Lake City; KSV, Mexico City; WLW, Cincinnati; KTHS, Hot Springs, Ark.; WCCO, Minneapolis; KOA, Denver; KJR, Seattle; KDKA, Pittsburgh; WHO, Des Moines; KQW, San Jose; KID, St. Louis; KFRC, Santa Barbara, "and a station on 1200 kilocycles with bad heterodyne interference."

Well, DXers,
CAN YOU BEAT IT?

Three Boys Will Be On Air Tonight

A request performance will be provided by the three boys of KGO from 6 to 6:30 tonight. Besides being able to double on several instruments, the three boys of KGO claim some distinction as vocal harmonists. In the midst of many of their trio numbers they often lend variety to their work by doing a little warbling, or soloing, or by changing trio combinations.

JACK AND ETHYL AT HOME TONIGHT

At home for the Christmas holidays, "Jack and Ethyl, the Associated Motormates," will be heard for a half hour tonight, beginning at 9 o'clock through stations of the NBC system.

Where the home of this popular radio couple is will be revealed during the broadcast. "Jack and Ethyl," who are following the "Roads to Romance" on the Pacific coast every week, will be with their relatives and home town friends tonight for the holiday festivities.

Stations broadcasting this "Roads to Romance" half hour are KFI, Los Angeles; KHQ, Spokane; KOMO, Seattle; EGW, Portland; KGO, Oakland, and KPO San Francisco.

MICE SET UP REAL HOWL IN RADIO SET

THE DALLES, Ore., Dec. 19.—Squeaks and squawk in a radio may not be all at all and outside influences, according to Mrs. Paul Lemke, Mrs. Lemke recently purchased a new radio set which was sent to her home in the original packing box a received from the factory, shortly after the set was tested, the owner noted unusual sounds emanating from the interior of the set, but blamed it on electrical disturbances.

When they continued she sent for an expert, who took a rear panel from the cabinet and revealed a mouse nest of considerable proportions. The occupants of the nest apparently had received warning and fled.

The "mamma mase" had stripped most of its insulation from the inside wiring of the set to make a nest.

MONTREAL, Dec. 19.—Convicted on evidence of theft, an innocent man was freed from a second instalment of ten lashes and many months in the penitentiary when one of the guilty men confessed to authoring the victim of the plot had in sentenced to two years in prison 20 lashes, on a robbery chat

60-DAY SUSPENSION FACED BY WOBBLERS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 13.—Capt. Guy Hill, engineer for the radio commission in charge of broadcasting, has recommended to the commission that the licenses of the following stations be suspended for 60 days for failure to adhere to their assigned frequencies:

WKBQ, the Bronx, New York City; WEVD, Woodhaven, New York City; WOKO, Mount Beacon, N. Y.; WHAZ, Troy, N. Y.; WCLB, Long Beach, N. Y.; WNU, Newark, N. J.; WAPD, Detroit; WKAR, East Lansing, Mich.; KWKH, Shreveport, La.; and WDSU, New Orleans, La.

These stations, Captain Hill told the commission, had been from 2,000 to 73,000 cycles off their assigned frequencies.

Olive Palmer And Paul Oliver Will Sing On Network

An entertainment to be broadcast from New York through the NBC system tonight, from 6:30 to 7:30, Pacific standard time, will feature Olive Palmer, popular coloratura soprano, in three solos, and Paul Oliver in two solos as well as a duet with Miss Palmer. Miss Palmer also will sing a duet with Elizabeth Lennox, contralto, and the Revelers will have three typical numbers. These added vocal numbers are in response to requests from all over the country.

There will be the usual symphony and specialty orchestra features under the direction of Gustave Haenschen and three big ensemble numbers accompanied by the orchestra. KFI will rebroadcast.

Saves $150,000 for California Farmers

A $300,000 insurance bill cut in half! That's what the Farmers Automobile Inter-Insurance Exchange has done for its policy holders in the last seven months. Think of it! The same complete protection as offered by old line companies at one-half the cost! No wonder the F. A. I. E. is one of the fastest growing companies in the country! Co-operation—just rates—a spirit of fair play are back of this remarkable growth.

Are You Taking Advantage of This Low-Cost Auto Insurance?

Only California Farmers, property owners, can enjoy this insurance—those who live in the country. Naturally their cars are less subject to traffic accident than those in the city—this makes the low rates possible. Organized under the laws of the state—supervised by the State Commission—the F. A. I. E. is popular because it was organized for and by California Farmers. Policies are plainly written—easy to understand! Controlled by a Board of Governors elected by the policyholders! See our agent in your community today or write direct for full particulars.

DOG'S ABILITY TO THINK NOT PROVEN, CLAIM

By JAMES R. CONNOR Jr.

United Press Staff Correspondent
of whether a dog responds to commands because of an innate intelligence or sensory capacity or just because, like an automaton, certain commands, expressions or gestures have become associated with certain reflex actions, has been raised here.

The average owner will probably answer that he is certain his dog has something approaching human intelligence, but Jacob Herbert of this city who owns and what is more important has the complete affection of "Fellow" isn't so sure.

"Fellow," a beautiful German police dog almost six years old is probably the most "intelligent" dog in the world, according to the common use of that term in dogdom, but Herbert who professes to be a layman in psychological lines despite his ability to discuss psychology has an open mind on the subject of brain capacities of dogs or their so-called "intelligence."

"Fellow" has been trained by Herbert to distinguish almost 400 words and can go through his paces obeying only Herbert's verbal commands. The word knowledge of "Fellow" is exactly that—Herbert can go behind a screen or in another room and his commands will be followed implicitly by the dog to show there is not the slightest gesture or other hint to help the animal.

Obeys Many Commands
Herbert can tell Fellow to look out the window, sit down, turn around, stand still, place his head in one's lap, guard a prisoner, go to another room to get any object, and the dog will obey without an error.

"Mary Jane" is the mother of a late brood of Fellow's puppies.

"Let's go see Mary Jane," Herbert will say and Fellow's pleasure seems almost human.

"Nice dog," Herbert will approve, and Fellow will come near to smiling. "Shame," or "That's no good," and Fellow will act dispirited.

Herbert believes Fellow "knows" as many words as the average child, but he is careful to explain that he does not claim Fellow has the intelligence of the same child or of any child.

"And yet, perhaps, he does think," Herbert says. "Sometimes in his sleep he sits and growls just like other dogs, and if he dreams, he must think."

Of course, Fellow may be growling at some stomach complaint, but Herbert doesn't think much of that theory.

TAKES HIS MEDICINE
UNIONTOWN, Pa., Dec. 18.—William Hale, charged with robbery, is back in jail here although he made good his escape from the prison several weeks ago. When Hale reached his home in Altoon, Ill., his mother ordered him to return and take his medicine like a man.

A fence post rots nearest the surface of the ground because the growth of the fungi causing decay requires heat, light, moisture and food.

KELLOGG'S TREATY
ALLS GREAT NEED

called attention to the peaceful relations between the United States and Canada and the fact that there neither forts nor troops on the border, as an ideal condition at which the world could aim. He showed that both the League of Nations covenant and the Locarno treaties leave gaps in the legislation against war which the Kellogg pact has attempted to fill. After outlining the steps through which the pact finally reached the point where all but five nations signed it on August 27 of this year, Burke explained its possibilities for being a real instrument of peace.

Admitting that the treaty may have its weak points, he declared, however, that there is no other way of preventing war except a plan such as the one provided in the treaty.

"Furthermore, simply getting representatives of the nations together each year, where they will again realize that it is criminal to settle differences in any other way, will have a great influence toward peace. They will realize that a violator of the pact will be held up to the world as a hypocrite," Burke stated.

Necessary Exception
Self defense, he pointed out, necessarily is made an exception in the Kellogg pact, for no nation can be expected to allow another to invade it with armed forces. He declared, however, that the definition of self defense must be restricted further than it has been in the past and suggested the definition provided by Webster as the best in existence.

"The necessity for self defense must be instant," he quoted, and declared that overt acts of preparation or rumored preparation could not be construed as an excuse for waging a war of asserted self defense.

One of the greatest weaknesses of the pact resulted from the fact that Great Britain insisted on inserting a reservation which would insure that the treaty will not prejudice her freedom of action in certain special regions, such as India and Egypt, under her control. This constitutes a virtual "Monroe Doctrine" for Great Britain, Burke said, and has caused South American countries to wonder whether the United States and Great Britain have some agreement in this respect. Three of the five nations which have not signed the treaty are in South America, he stated, and it may be that they are "wondering where they will get off," for they are not sure the treaty does not leave a loophole

BONDS

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—(UP)—With only a few losses to mar the list, the bond market moved quietly today after a day of irregularity. Convertible offerings followed their stocks in a sharp advance. U. S. issues ruled firm; Ralls held steady, and the majority of domestic issues ruled firm, with a few advances. Foreign loans were mixed.

Bolivia 8s spurred more than a point and the rise fractionally following the rally in these bonds yesterday when it was learned the hostilities between Bolivia and Paraguay would be settled by arbitration. Peruvian loans, however, sagged and some of the other South American groups sold lower. German issues were mixed. Silesian Bank rose more than a point. Fraction issues were strong in the industrial 11s and other utility held firm. Steels also were in demand but Rubbers sold off.

Railroad issues were generally unchanged. St. Paul 9s advanced slightly, while Seaboard 4 1/2 Florida 6s "A" dropped more than 10 points, these bonds were in early dealings quite a number of gains have been noted.

ACCEPT MEDIATION

Both Bolivia and Paraguay have accepted mediation for their dispute. This will be furnished by the Pan-American Conference on arbitration. Already the machinery is in motion toward that end.

Mobilization of the armies of each nation, however, is in progress and excitement is pitched high. It is entirely possible that many will be disappointed over the peaceful settlement of this dispute. There are some groups, and some individuals in every group who are not as far advanced in the scale of civilization as are others. Human life becomes more sacred as civilization advances. As the mind begins to dominate and the intellectual and reasoning powers come more and more into the ascendancy, the folly as well as the final futility of force as the settlement of differences, makes its appearance.

It is a tribute to those who have been carrying on a campaign for the development of public sentiment against war in the past decades, and particularly within the last ten years, that the slaughter of a hundred men or more on the wild desert border line between Paraguay and Bolivia has shocked the moral sensibilities of millions of people, and more particularly on the western continent. It is evidence of a remarkable advance in the discovery of methods for the settlement of peace when these two countries have accepted this mediation at this critical stage of their differences.

The greatest force exerted on governments and people is the force of public opinion. It is stronger in the end than political systems, armies, or law. It is being developed and brought to bear on just such situations as this. The Kellogg peace pact in its denouncing of war as a means of settlement, and a declaration that only peaceful methods shall be used, is another great step in that direction. We hope and we believe that it will be endorsed by the Senate within the next few days.

The dew is the condensed breath of the earth, according to modern weather experts. Maybe that song should read: "Maxwellton's braes are bonny, where early the breath of the earth condenses."

THE LAST BOULDER

The Swing-Johnson bill has re-passed the House where it was sent for concurrence to the amendments that were placed on the measure in the Senate. It now goes before the President for his signature. He has ten days in which to consider and sign the bill. It is fully expected that the President will affix his signature to the measure. He may do so within the next two or three days.

For some measures, the provisions of which are unknown or uncertain, the President needs this time and frequently more to investigate the constitutionality, the scope, and all of the implications of the proposed law. But in this particular case it is hardly necessary. There has not been a phase of it which has not been thrashed out—the engineering, the legality, the cost, its relationship to private enterprise and the public are thoroughly known. The only doubts, apparently, which the President has in his mind concerning it are those relating to the question of whether the power phase of it shall be conducted by public or private parties. This in the last analysis is for determination by the Secretary of the Interior, and hence under the personal direction of the President.

It looks as though the great fight for the enactment of the law is over; that the legislation will be a legal fact by Christmas.

"Hoover in Chile; Faces 33 Hours of Rapid Fire Welcome," says a headline. That's not a very nice way to treat our president!

STUNTS AND THRILLS

We have heretofore in these columns called attention to the daring and all but useless stunts by airplane, automobile, and seacraft. Here is another—Mr. Glenn Hyde and his wife of Hansen, Idaho left El Tovar Hotel at the Grand Canyon on November 15th for a trip down the river through the gorge in a home-made scow. They expected to reach Needles by December 6th, but have not been heard from. The trip was undertaken as a vacation jaunt, and to give Mrs. Hyde a thrill.

The war department has ordered a search of the Grand Canyon for this pair. Thousands of dollars will be spent, privation endured, and possibly lives lost in the search, and what is the use of it all? Parties of engineers and scientists have made the dangerous trip in the interests of the different sciences and the data gathered is useful. This couple does it for a lark and causes great anxiety, suffering, and expense. If it were known beforehand that public authority and agencies are not interested in searching for or rescuing those who undertake useless and foolhardy risks there would be less interest and there might be fewer of them.

Many students come to college just to get atmosphere, says a dean at Columbia. Maybe that's why so many get the air.

A STEAK PARADISE

A good steak, together with French fried potatoes, may be had in Argentina for the low price of 60 cents. President-elect Hoover, while there, had an illustration of the low cost of living. A steak at that price here in the United States is a memory.

In a discussion on the high cost of living, one man said to another, "Think of a place where you can get a full dinner,—soup, fish, meat, two vegetables, pie a-la-mode, and coffee,—all for 35 cents." "Where can you get such a dinner for that price?" "I don't know," was the reply, "but think of it."

Well, in this country of $1.50 and $2.00 steaks, let us think of the country just visited by President-elect Hoover, where such an article of food, with all the trimmings that go with it, may be had for 60 cents. Think of Argentina. Nevertheless, we prefer to live in the United States; and that is no reflection on Argentina.

THE REALITY OF SANTA CLAUS

Of course there is a Santa Claus. But he has other duties besides bringing toys, books, and other things we want. Santa Claus is as busy as he can be keeping the spring of human kindness so full that it will overflow, and carry love and goodwill to all children and grown-ups.

A part of his job is to keep the faith of children clear and bright, that they may in their childhood have something to believe in though they may not see the thing itself.

Just because we have never sat up late enough at night to catch Santa Claus at his work, is no reason to believe that he does not exist. Did we ever see love? Do you know what kind of a coat he wears? Have you, in all your travels, caught a glimpse of gratitude or been introduced to hope? Have you met charity, and pray tell what does she look like. No, all these good people keep out of sight and no one in all the world has met them face to face. But do they live? Ask the mother of that sturdy, laughing boy if love lives in the world. Ask the shipwrecked sailor or the convict in prison if hope is real, and ask the crippled children if they know charity.

These are no more real than Santa Claus, the impersonation of kindness and goodwill.

Winter's here. It's time to return that lawn-mower and borrow a snow shovel.

ATHLETES AS STUDENTS

The sport editor of a metropolitan daily points out that the athletes of the colleges are on the whole just as good students, and some of them much better students, than those who do not engage in athletics. No less than a half dozen Rhodes scholars recently named from the colleges of the country were outstanding athletes. Since the colleges have adopted the rule that no athlete who falls below in his marks shall be permitted to engage in any athletic contest, scholarship conditions have improved a great deal. It is no longer possible to introduce ringers, men who are accepted by colleges, not for their ability to study, but for their ability to excel in athletics.

Athletes have a place in college life, and conducted in a reasonable way they ought to be a benefit rather than a hindrance to study and scholarship.

Forward-Looking

San Diego Union

What rights does a man have in the air immediately above his dwelling or place of business? This interesting question, already by way of becoming a practical one, is raised by a prominent motion picture producer who desires to have air travel prohibited in the neighborhood of movie studios where "squawks" are being made. The noise of the planes of course interferes with sound recordings; and since the recordings are more or less permanent, involving considerable expense in the making, the producer feels that aviators should be put under some reasonable restraint. He proposes an official flag which, when hoisted above a studio, would constitute a notice that sound movies were being made there and that airplanes should steer clear.

In due course somebody will no doubt make a law on the subject. When this is done, however, we feel strongly that institutions rather than movie studios should have equal benefits.

A householder with sickness in the family, or with an interesting program coming in by radio, or even a gentleman possessed by a desire to sit by his fireside and hear himself think, should be entitled to some consideration. Sauce for the goose ought to be sauce for the gander—even when mostly applesauce. This well established legal principle should be considered whenever laws governing air noises are contemplated.

And, for that matter, if airplane noises can be legally restricted or regulated out of existence, why not other noises as well? That thought opens a really promising vista. It should be explored. Maybe something can be done about baritone dogs that bark for an hour before sunrise every morning.

America's Savings In Huge Figures

Pasadena Star-News

Figures denoting the deposits of the American people in savings banks have reached such an enormous total as to be in the realm of the romantic. And in the year ending last June 30, the gain in savings deposits was the greatest ever recorded in the United States—the increase amounting to more than $2,327,000,000.

The grand total savings in banks of the United States is $28,400,000,000. And the total number of individual depositors is more than 53,000,000. The gain per inhabitant in 1928 over 1927, is $17. The state of California showed a gain of $10 per inhabitant. Since 1912 the gain in savings per inhabitant in the United States has increased 169.3 per cent.

These figures are so colossal as to stagger the imagination. This sum of $28,400,000,000 would pay the entire national debt; build the Panama Canal; build a canal across Nicaragua; build the Boulder dam; construct a comprehensive flood control system for the Mississippi River; pay all the expenses of the United States government for one year—and still there would be a balance left equal to the combined estimated wealth of Henry Ford and John D. Rockefeller! And this, remember, is made up of pennies, dimes and dollars saved by the American people. What a wonderful commentary on the power and importance of little sums, in national life.

Perhaps New Currency Will Familiarize Chase

San Francisco Chronicle

The designers of the new currency, we gather from Secretary Mellon's report, had in mind carrying out the historic visions. The one-dollar bill will bear the face of Washington and the five-dollar bill the face of Lincoln. Thus the historic portraits with which the public is most familiar will be carried by notes of those denominations most familiar to the public. So far so good. But how about the other end of the scale?

Isn't it going to be embarrassing to Pater Familias when he draws a note out of his pay envelope to have Junior ask, "Who is that Mr. Chase whose picture is on the money?" Sensitive men will hesitate to change their larger bills at the cigar counter lest raging friends show them up by inquiring, "What league does that guy Chase play in?" Such matters might easily start a popular prejudice against these $10.00 notes and drive them out of general circulation.

Easier Said Than Done

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

TOO SMART TO BE GOOD
I have just read about a seed
A most determined seed indeed

Which, when it lights upon the ground
Begins to whirl and spin around

Until by dint of ardent toil
It squirms beneath the toughest soil

And then remains until the Spring
Shall warm it into burgeoning.

I've never seen it bore its way
Through grass and sod and loam and clay

It is a mystery to me
What sort of plant it grows to be.

But I am sure it is the sort
That with my spring time toil makes sport

Depriving of their feeble chance
To grow my tender garden plants.

No thing that one would care to grow
Would fight for its existence so

This crafty and ambitious seed
Springs from some sort of noxious weed

For only criminals at heart
Could have resort to such base art.

NOT MUCH TO OAKS

The New York police authorities ought at least to keep gangs away from gangsters while they are in jail.

ONLY FAIR

The Federal Government is going to make needful alterations in the United States Senate chamber. Now it is up to the states to make the same kind of alterations in the Senate itself.

Dr. Frank Crane's Friendly Talk

By Dr. Frank Crane

THE COMFORT OF MONEY

It is all very nice and superior to despise money. Money, however, is responsible for most of the comforts that come to us.

It goes without saying that money gives you shelter, food and clothes. The implication is that is about all it can do. They say that Rockefeller gets his board and clothes and that is about all his money does for him except to cause him worry.

But just a moment. There are certainly higher pleasures in life than mere physical existence. Perhaps the highest pleasure of all is that of helping somebody else. You can be of service to other people and make their lot easier just with your two bare hands, but the more money there is in your pocket the more help you can give.

I do not speak of endowing colleges or reforming the natives of Timbuctoo or supporting the missionaries in China.

I refer to sending worthy children to school and giving them an education, to providing outings for city children, to giving worthy sick people hospital treatment, to helping a needy friend to a temporary loan and to doing all things that make for human happiness.

Money simply increases our power. It makes us able to do what otherwise we could not do.

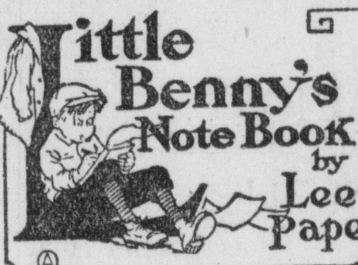

Sometimes money may be a power for evil. But it also can be a tremendous power for good.

An unarmed officer is not very competent to quell a riot, but put a revolver in his hand and he is effective. A moneyless man may see the forces of evil and be unable to stem them, but with a little money he can stand against them.

It is as important for a person to increase his financial backing as it is for him to improve his health. Money is simply a tool that enables him to do what otherwise he could not do. It is a key without which the door of opportunity cannot be unlocked. It is the lever by which we pry loose otherwise fixed obstacles.

Don't imagine that money is everything, and don't be a miser. But don't forget that money is something. It is like the naught. Standing by itself it means nothing, but placed behind a digit it increases the digit's value tenfold.

It is your duty, therefore, if you seek that helpfulness that comes with power in the world to begin saving early in life and keep it up.

CRISMAS

Crismas is the time when everybody feels friendly towards everybody else, especially the ones that gave them the nicest presents.

Crismas always comes in December, making December the most hopeful month of the year. It always comes exactly on the 25th, so no matter what day you are disappointed in, at least you won't be disappointed in the date.

Crismas morning is the most exciting morning to wake up on, so if you had to die in your sleep you would never pick out the night before Crismas if you had your choice.

It is a sad feeling when people give somebody a Crismas present that cost about 2 dollars and get something back that only cost about 50 cents and still has the price tag on it by mistake.

If you get a present from somebody and never even send them anything at all, the only way you can get even with them is by sending them a New Year card.

Children are supposed to have the most fun Crismas, but regular people seem to have a even better of a time trimming the tree the night before, judging by the noise they make trying to be quiet. This is a good arrangement in favor of growing up.

Fellow that was born on Crismas can't tell their birthday presents from their Crismas presents and are probably a little unsatisfied all their lives.

Thoughts On Modern Life

By Glenn Frank

WISE RECKLESSNESS

A good many centuries ago one of the most farsighted seers of human history said, in effect, that the man who saves his life may lose it, while the man who loses his life may save it.

If Bernard Shaw or G.K. Chesterton had said this, the world might have dismissed it as a clever bit of journalistic word juggling, a sacrifice of sober truth for verbal effect.

But the world is a bit reluctant to accuse the Galilean Prophet of word juggling.

Jesus was not a journalist.

He did not make a living by tickling the ears of subway crowds with trenchant epigrams. He was a master of trenchant epigram.

I do not know a better text book for budding journalists than the New Testament. But his epigrams and his paradoxes were born, not of conscious word carpentry, but of an insight so deep that its simple expression was so far from the common notion that it seemed strange and bizarre.

It has taken several centuries to grow up to some of his epigrams.

The epigram I have mentioned—that a man may save his life by losing it—is a perfect example of what I mean.

A score of illustrations outside the field of mythical religion can be mustered to show how the world is demonstrating the practicability of this seemingly absurd assertion.

All that is best in the medical profession, for instance, is bent upon making the world so healthy that it will have less and less need for the doctor.

The scientific pioneers in medicine are year by year plotting the eradication of diseases that were the source of bread and butter for their predecessors.

The old doctor made money attending diphtheria cases.

The new doctor prevents diphtheria by a few injections.

Typhoid and tuberculosis tell the same story—diseases that once meant hundreds of visits for doctors are coming under the control of medical science.

Supervision of the health of school children, the employment of district nurses and social workers—all are part of the picture of a profession losing its life as a vast body of private practitioners, but saving its life and its dignity in a great adventure in health building and disease prevention.

And there are still other sayings of the Great Galilean that are not as paradoxical as they sound.

OUR CHILDREN

BACK TALK

Susie aged ten going on eleven was comfortably settled in the window seat reading a book she had brought from the library that very hour. It was evidently a good book because Susie was deaf to the calls upon her attention from the world about her.

"Susie, I wish you would rise and set the table."

No answer from Susie. Mother went on heating the sauce for a dessert. In a few minutes she looked at the clock and a little frown gathered between her eyes. "Susie, SUSIE, do you hear me? I told you long ago to set the table."

"Huh, huh," said Susie, without lifting her eyes from her book. Mother set the sauce in the ice box and began dishing the bread pudding. Then she opened the oven door to see how the roast was doing. She took it out and made the gravy.

"Susie, Susie, WILL you set the table? Now get right up. Lay down that book. This minute. Don't you bring home another book. Not another book do you bring into this house. Remember."

Mother dished the gravy and turned to see about Susie and the table. Susie was still buried in the book.

"Susan Jane Morrison, put down that book. I'll teach you that I mean."

"Ah, what do you want?" demanded Susie in no polite tones.

"I'll show you what I want just as soon as I get my hands free. I've told you to set that table about forty times since—"

"Forty times? You only called me once and—"

"That's right. Contradict me to my face. One of these days you're going to feel the weight of my hand where you need it most. Of all the—"

Just then Uncle Joe laid down his paper and said, "That's what you ought've done long ago. If you'd given her a few good smacks—"

"Is that so, smarty? I'd like to see anybody smack me. And what have you to say about it anyway? You're only an uncle. If you had a few children of your own like mother has you wouldn't—"

"There, there, Susan Jane, get the table set for pity's sake and hold your tongue. Something will have to be done about your talking back to people. And minding the first time you're spoken to. Now hurry."

Just so. Is the reason clear? Can you see why Susan Jane talked back? The stage was set for back talk. The atmosphere of the home was charged with back talk. Nobody minded it save when it was personally inconvenient. And very inconvenient it is going to be for the child who indulges in it and for the grown folk who encourage it by their methods of training and their attitude toward it.

Give the child set duties; to be performed at set times. Then hold to the schedule without waste of words. Talk begets talk. Back talk follows front talk. Scheduled duties need no talking and that's a good way to start.

Time to Smile

TOO LATE, BOSS!

FOREMAN: That man over there works twice as hard as you do. INDOLENT WORKMAN: Yes, I have told him about it, but he won't alter.—Lustige Kolner Zeitung, Cologne.

IN CHINA

"Sir, the enemy are as thick as peas."

"Then shell them, idiot!"—Aussie, Sydney.

PREPAREDNESS!

HUSBAND: Good-bye, my dear. If anything unexpected happens and I can't be home to dinner I'll send you a note by messenger. WIFE: Don't trouble, John. I've got it. It fell out of your pocket last night.—Answers.

WEIGHED AND WANTING

WIFE: I don't trust our new housewarming a bit. HUSBAND: But you can't go by appearances with these girls. WIFE: I'm not; I'm going by disappearances.—Everybody's Weekly.

ALL BALLED UP

"Let me see, Jenkins, what time did I come home last night?" "Three o'clock this morning, sir." "And—what time did I get up yesterday morning?" "Eight o'clock last night, sir!" "Very well, I'll stay in bed and get straightened out."—Passing Show.

PANCAKE VARIETY

MRS. BROWN tearfully: I'm so sorry, dear, I meant this to be a cottage pudding, but it wouldn't rise. YOUNG HUBBY: That's all right, sweetest. Let's just call it a flat pudding.—Progressive Grocer.
